Bayonne Workers Leave Jobs In Protest Over Refusal of Pay Hike Demands.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — William H. Davis, chairman of the War Labor Board, said today that troops would be employed to move any picket lines formed around the Bayonne, N. J plant of the General Cable corporation, where a "wild cat" strike has been in progress for three days.

Davis made this statement upon leaving the White House where he conferred with Justice Samuel Rosenman, advisor to the president. Davis refused to state whether his conference with Rosenman was on the Bayonne situation.

He told reporters that his statements were made as chairman of the War Labor Board.

(Meanwhile, in Bayonne leaders of the outlaw strike, called in protest against the War Labor Board's refusal to grant a 10 per cent wage increase, discussed governmental demands that they return to work immediately.)

The labor arbitrator declared that the Bayonne situation paralleled a strike at the North American aviation plant in California some months ago. At that time President Roosevelt ordered army troops to remove the picket lines from the plant and open the doors for workers who wanted to remain at work.

Mrs. Roosevelt Answers Question With Five of Own

NEW YORK—(AP)—Parrying one question with five of her own proved successful for Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at a Hunter college forum yesterday.

"Why the delay in opening a second front?" was the repeated query. At first she pleaded ignorance of military affairs, but finally she countered:

"All right. How much do you know about distances? About ships available to transport supplies? About the ammunition, the guns and the supplies necessary for such a second front? Do you want a second front to begin before you are sure about all these plans? Do you want a Dunkirk of American soldiers?"

Silence reigned.

The Federation of Glass, Ceramic and Silica Sand Workers of America (CIO) had asked a flat 15 cent increase.

Truck Runs Wild, Hits Three Cars

Driver Steers Vehicle to Curb to Prevent High Loss of Life.

(Picture on Page 14)

Running wildly down North Main street hill, its driver powerless to check its speed because of defective brakes, a big transport truck crashed into three parked automobiles, smashed a store window and injured a pedestrian shortly before 8 p. m. yesterday.

Alertness of the truck driver in steering the truck into the parked automobiles was credited by police with preventing death or serious injury to more than a score of persons walking or passing in cars at the time the truck started its wild dash from Fourth to Fifth street.

Rather than crash into a freight train blocking the Fifth street crossing at the bottom of the hill and rather than smash into several occupied cars waiting to cross the tracks, Elmer Jones, 43, of Columbus, the driver, swerved his truck to the left and into the parked vehicles.

Police said Jones informed them that his booster brake "let go" just as he passed Fourth street and that he jumped from his truck just before it struck the parked cars. The truck was owned by the Rehl Truck company of Columbus.

William Owings, 375 North Mulberry street, who was walking south on the west side of Main street en route to a lodge meeting, was hit by a car which was pushed onto the sidewalk and overturned against the front of the Baer Furniture store, 155 North Main street.

Owings suffered lacerations and bruises about the left leg and was taken to General hospital for treatment. He told police he saw the automobile start to roll over when the truck hit but he was unable to get out of its path.

The impact of the rolling car also damaged the front window of

DOUBT STORY

No Charge Filed Against Man Accused in Circus Fire.

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)—Detective Lt. David Kerr said today that he doubted that a 29-year-old man serving a jail sentence for larceny at Canton had anything to do with the $200,000 fire that destroyed the menagerie tent of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey circus on Aug. 4.

Kerr said that no charges would be placed against the man until 16-year-old Lamadris Ford of Pittsburgh is given a psychiatric hearing before Juvenile Judge Harry L. Eastman Friday. Ford failed to identify the man as an "accomplice" in starting the fire but later changed his story, according to Kerr.

Ford had told authorities that he started the fire to "get even" with the circus for firing him. Officers said his story had several discrepancies.

NAZIS THREATEN DUTCH KILLINGS

Wholesale Executions Loom In Holland After Wrecking of Troop Train.

(By United Press)

LONDON —(U.P.)— German authorities in Holland today threatened a wholesale execution of hostages, 1,000 to 1,500 of whom are reported under arrest, unless the population surrenders those responsible for the wrecking of a Nazi troop train and the attempted destruction of several radio stations.

Thus far the Germans have refrained from reprisal executions of hostages in Holland, although there have been many killings in France, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and other occupied countries.

The Aneta Dutch news agency reported that German authorities suffering from "invasion jitters," were taking stern precautions against any Dutch uprising in event of an Allied invasion of western Europe.

A series of new decrees was said to have been issued, designed to 12-Year-Old Girl Takes Care of Family of Five.

GREENUP, Ky. —(AP)— Five children between the ages of three and 12, whose parents left them alone for "weeks at a time," were placed in the county home at Wurtland yesterday, Sheriff Carl McKenzie reported.

County Judge G. W. Burchett said the youngsters' parents, employed in an Ohio canning factory, were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Staggs of Worthington Hollow. He gave their names as Betty Jean, 3; Emory, 6; Louise Mae, 8; Roy, 10, and Margaret, 12.

McKenzie said the children were "reasonably well dressed and well fed" and that "Margaret seemed to be taking good care of them."

VOTE RE-CHECK MEETING SET

Election Board To Survey Records in Close Race For Commissioner.

The Richland county board of elections will meet in special session Saturday afternoon to check the votes cast Tuesday in the Republican contest for county commissioner which apparently was won by C. L. Shoup of Plymouth township by 26 votes. It was the only close race in the county voting.

Clerk Philip Wolfe of the board said there was no indication that the final tabulation was incorrect, emphasizing that it is the custom of the board to pay special attention to close contests where a small error might change the outcome.

Shoup polled 1,101 votes in the county to 1,075 for John C. Friday, his primary opponent. Outcome of the contest was not determined until the last precinct was tabulated.

Election board clerks had started their official count of votes cast for all offices today and with most of the county rural vote checked, they said only a few minor errors had been found.

Because the primary vote was light in the county, there was less chance for error in the tabulation, board officials pointed out.

Hog Prices Break 22-Year Record on Chicago Market.

CHICAGO—(AP)—A few choice hogs sold at $15.25 a hundred pounds on the livestock market today—fully 10 cents above the previous 1942 peak and at a record high for the past 22 years.

Gains during early trading averaged about 15 cents, with light weight offerings in demand. Hogs weighing 180 to 240 pounds were bought by meat processors mainly at $15 to $15.20.

Names County Committee of 65 to Boost War Bond Sale

Appointment of a committee of 65 business, industrial and professional leaders in Mansfield and Richland county to promote the sale of series "F" and "G" war bonds—those in denominations of from $5,000 to $100,000—was announced today by Henry G. Brunner, chairman of the Richland County Victory Fund committee.

The committee will work with the banks in Mansfield, Shelby, and county villages to impress upon the public that bonds must be bought to finance the nation's war program and that the larger bonds are good investments for persons with large amounts of money to invest.

Brunner said the campaign will promote the sale of other government issues, like the seven-eighths per cent certificates of indebtedness, in addition to the "F" and "G" bonds.

He said each participating bank may send its accumulation of bond orders to the Cleveland headquarters and submit the total amount of sales to him at the end of each month.

Brunner said no quotas have been set for Richland county banks, but he added that John C. McHannan, Cleveland, chairman of the Northern Ohio area in charge of bond sales, expects the county to sell "about $200,000 worth of bonds a month."

Members of the general committee were named on the recommendations of the executive committee of 11 members appointed by Brunner.

Serving on the executive committee are:

DEMS STIRRED BY BIG G. O. P. PRIMARY VOTE

Bricker Receives 30,000 More Votes Than Combined Total of 5 Dem Candidates.

LEADERS PUZZLED

Return of Harmony Through McSweeney's Nomination Pleases Party.

While Richland county Democrats joined others in the state in rejoicing today over the prospect of the first united party front in a long time in a state campaign, they were disturbed by the huge vote Gov. John W. Bricker polled in Tuesday's primary.

The Republican governor, unopposed for renomination, received 350,000 votes Tuesday, about 30,000 more than the combined total vote of the five Democratic candidates for governor who were engaged in a brisk campaign.

Party leaders on both sides were puzzled at the heavy Republican vote in a primary when there were only two G. O. P. contests on the G. O. P. state ticket, neither of them outstanding. The total state vote was lighter than predicted, amounting to about 650,000.

Gov. Bricker polled 47,898 more votes than the next highest man on the Republican state ballot, Lieut. Gov. Paul M. Herbert. In Richland county, the governor topped all the candidates with 2,277 votes as against 2,078 for Herbert, who also was the runner-up here.

Meanwhile, the Democrats had a contest for governor and others for treasurer of state, lieutenant governor, and attorney general. Contests invariably bring out a heavier vote in a primary.

Democrats here also were interested today in the selection of a state chairman to succeed J. Freer Bittinger of Ashland who WON'T YOU HELP?

Mansfielders Fail to Respond To Waste Fat Appeal.

Mansfielders have failed to respond satisfactorily to the government's call for waste fats for use in making ammunition for the war, Mrs Gayle Owings, chairman in charge of the campaign, said today.

Only a small amount of kitchen greases and fats have been turned in to meat dealers who are paying four cents a pound for it, Mrs. Owings said.

Asserting that it takes 10 pounds of animal fat to make one pound of glycerine for use in explosives she urged housewives to strain their waste fats, place them in clean tin cans with wide-mouthed tops, and take them to the neighborhood meat dealer who will see that the grease gets into the war production channels.

The German radio, still insisting that British Prime Minister Winston Churchill has been engaged in "second front" consultations in Moscow, reported today that Churchill has arrived in Cairo en route back to London.

American Fighters Stage 31 Raids In 48 Hours With RAF.

(By United Press)

LONDON — American fighter planes, it was announced officially today, have launched their initial operations in the European theater, joining the Royal Air Force in repeated sorties along the coast of Nazi-occupied France.

A communique from the headquarters of the European theater of operations of the United States Army, revealed that for the past 48 hours American fighter planes have been harassing German positions along the French coast.

The communique reported that American fighters have engaged in 31 separate operations in the 48-hour period in which U. S. fighter participation in the European war theater has been under way.

American fighters have joined the RAF in beating off Nazi planes attempting to fly over the British coast, the communique revealed.

(A British radio report, heard in New York by CBS, said that U. S. flying fortresses, manned by American crews, are ready to attack Germany "any time now").

The communique said that in the 48-hour period from Aug. 11th to Aug. 13th American fighters made three operational flights over the French coast and 20 sorties in the sea area around Nazi-held Europe.

In addition, said the communi-

Fall of Airdrome In Tulagi Area To U. S. Forces Believed Near.

(By United Press)

GENERAL M'ARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia—Reports spread through Australia today that the United States Marines were within sight of victory in at least three key Solomon islands and on Guadalcanal, were driving toward capture of the best airdrome site in the entire area.

(An Australian broadcasting commission correspondent said it was believed the marines were breaking the Japanese hold on Tulagi area, that they had been strongly reinforced and that the Japanese had been driven from many of their positions in hand to hand fighting.)

The marines were consolidating positions in Tulagi, Florida and Guadalcanal islands, reports to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters indicated, and might now have a foothold on a fourth island, probably Malaita.

On Guadalcanal, the marines were believed to be fighting across a five-mile-wide coastal plain on the north shore, 17½ miles across the Sealark channel from Florida and Tulagi, determined to take a vitally valuable airdrome site nestled among the mountainous southern Solomons.

RUSSIA: Nazis Open New Drive to Take Stalingard

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW—A mighty new German offensive against Stalingrad appeared to be taking shape in the Don bend today as hard-pressed Russian forces in the Caucasus battled to halt constanly reinforced Nazi columns advancing toward three vital objectives—the rich Grozny oil fields and the Black Sea ports of Novorossisk and Tuapse.

Military advices reported the Germans were massing vast quantities of men and equipment in the Don elbow and told of a sudden intensification of fighting near Kotelnikosvk, 95 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

Both armies were reported throwing almost unprecedented numbers of men into the fray in this sector and there were indications that the battle might develop into one of the mightiest seen on the whole Russian front.

Thus far the Russians seemed to be holding their own on the approaches to Stalingrad, but the picture in the Caucasus, where Adolf Hitler is reaching for the oil to feed his fighting machine, was grave.

New concentrations of dive bombers were reported pacing the German drive.

The army newspaper, Red Star, reported a three-day action, ended two days ago, in which Russians penetrated 12 miles into the rear of German positions in the Don elbow, killing 4,200 of the foe, it was said.

From another sector of Russia's great front, Pravada, the Communist party organ, reported a 120-plane raid on Leningrad, in

INDIA: Disorders Subside Under Strict Military Rule

(By International News Service)

BOMBAY—Stern repressive measures appeared today to have calmed the turbulent spirit of India's revolt. While disorders subsided they had not ceased but prompt police action in the country's larger cities has discouraged the more violent demonstrations.

While Bombay was comparatively quiet today reports of sporadic disorders came from Calcutta, Nagpur, Secunderbad and Amroat. Police met the demonstrators with rifle volleys and tear gas bombs.

No deaths were reported but a number of rioters were wounded and many arrests were made.

Police were compelled twice to fire on rioting mobs in Bombay on Wednesday as the death toll throughout India mounted to 100. In Bombay alone 34 persons have been killed. Hundreds are in hospitals and thousands in jail as a result of four days of disorders.

Congress party leaders who launched the nationalist revolution on Sunday were reported to be making every effort to restore the demonstrations to the "non-violent" campaign authorized by Mohandas K. Gandhi. This effort was handicapped somewhat by the fact that most of the nationalist leaders are in jail.

Authorities called the disorders of the past four days "a wildcat strike" and contrary to the program of Gandhi and his colleagues in the Congress party leadership. They dealt with it accordingly, instituting curfew regulations and restoring the whipping post.

One Bombay police inspector hit upon an effective method to curb the exuberance of Indian youths

CHAPTER XXVII

Gordon made a hurried exit from Cora's apartment to find the nearest telephone booth. There was one in the lobby, and he fumbled through the phone directory, berating himself because he had never thought to look up the name Iverson before.

His fingernail cut into the paper under the name. It was there, just as Cora had said, Iverson, George.

The booth was hot. He heard the bell at the other end, heard the receiver being lifted off, and a heavy, burred voice answered.

Gordon asked whether the speaker was related to Ben Iverson, who once owned the Double Jackpot Gold Mine.

"Yes, I'm his brother!" the answer came. "What do you want?"

Gordon said, "I've a pretty good hunch, Mr. Iverson, that you might be interested to know that your brother's wife, Laurie, did not die a natural death. I have reason to believe she died in a very strange way. I need a letter from you to the cemetery officials, giving me permission to open her coffin and have an autopsy ordered. With my suspicion and the evidence that may be disclosed, we should be able to unmask her murderer."

"Murderer? Wait a minute now, mon. Who are you—from the police? Are you a detective?"

"A private one, yes."

"I can't believe this dom fool's business you've been saying about my puir brother Ben's wife."

"I assure you it isn't damn fool business; There isn't time to tell you everything now. I'll be up to see you in ten minutes."

Gordon hung up and flung open the door.

Morley tried to put his arm around Audrey as she was entering the library. She pulled away and his hand fell stiffly and slid off.

"Yes, darling, I understand. My metallic hand is getting on your nerves . . ."

"It must be awful, Cliff!" she said solicitously. "You've never really told me how it happened?"

"A drill wound," he answered sourly.

"Gordon told me he saw your hand, in the hospital."

"It was an infection."

"Gordon spoke of radium poisoning."

"A writer's imagination!"

"Gordon said it was luminous in the dark!"

"Gordon! Gordon! Stop it!"

"Cliff, can radium spread to other parts of the body?"

"For God's sake, keep still! There's no more danger of that! You can't catch it like the measles!"

"Then it really was radium?" She sent home her punch line. "I donated nearly a gram of radium to a hospital in New York a few years ago."

Morley stared at her. "Yes, I remember you told me about it!"

"It can kill as well as cure, a dangerous medicine," she remarked without apparent design. Then she became silent. Morley mixed cocktails. They sipped them after he clinked his glass to hers. It was a daiquirti, but flat.

Sunlight flooded the room. They stood motionless; outside a bird called, a beetle droned in meditative flight.

"It's so restful, so quiet here. Women like that when they are with a man they love. Laurie must have loved it here! Did she?"

Morley's lower lip drooped. "She said she did."

"What was she like, Cliff? Tell me."

"I believe you are getting jealous of Laurie, at last, he laughed.

"I'm interested in every detail of your past. Always have been."

He looked at her inquiringly. "To me a past is like exploded fireworks!"

"I've seen her picture. Laurie looked like a healthy good-natured soul. Did she have a loud, hearty laugh?"

"Yes, she did. I hated it. But how did you know?"

"Because I can hear it, right in this room!"

"Ridiculous! You mustn't go psychic on me."

"And she liked animals, didn't she?"

He nodded. "Small ridiculous pets!"

"What became of her two Pekingese dogs and her parrot?"

Audrey had been standing with her back to the window. Morley's face was in the light. She saw it whitish and tense. He turned sideways.

"I don't know."

"They died in her room, didn't they?"

"Can't you talk of something else?"

"I think their death made her ill. Don't you?"

"Perhaps; it's possible."

She sat down in a chair near him. "How long was she sick, Cliff?"

"About a month or two."

"Did you have a good doctor?"

"Of course. She liked him. She had him when she lived with Iverson in Jack Pot City."

"I don't remember. If you can't think of pleasanter conversation I'm going for a walk."

"I've never before slept in a room in which someone has died!"

"Don't tell me that you are frightened?" he roared with a cold scornful laugh. Audrey sat straight and her eyes grew large as she stared at him silently until he calmed down.

"Well," she said at last smoothly, "I'd have a right to feel frightened, don't you think?"

"I'll have your room changed tomorrow, nearer mine."

She smiled lightly. "That's what I am after. You see how clever I am to get what I want! I must write a few important letters, I'll see you at lunch."

He was standing. He forgot to open the door for her as she left the room; he was perplexed.

"Writing important letters, to whom?" He'd get them before she had a chance to mail them; he'd open them to see what was going on in her mind. Morley searched hurriedly for the liquid he used in the old days to open letters when Laurie also wrote important letters. There was always Oliver, his personal forger, to rewrite the envelope when it was necessary. Mentally he patted himself on the back. It was a clever move of his to make Oliver his tool.

Audrey needed to feel his fascination more than she seemed to. She was changed. He must get her under control again and quickly. Her mind must have less power to think so clearly. In the old days he captured her by strutting. He was her Spanish Grandee. His physique was still as good as ever and so were his fine manners. He must remind her of the time she begged him to pose for a sculpture she wanted of him. All he needed to do was arouse her senses; make her yield to him.

He dressed carefully for lunch. He knew he looked well in riding clothes. He waited impatiently for her. He was eager to start his campaign.

She came down the steps.

"My loveliest rose, a very humble sister for you, with all thorns removed." He put a rose in her hand and held her fingers tight as he kissed them warmly.

Audrey had been smiling. At his obvious action she drew back imperceptibly, looked down at his smooth, slicked head coldly.

"Oh, thank you. It's quite a beauty!" she said.

"So you've finished your letters my sweet? Give them to me and I'll have Chino mail them when he drives into town?"

"Only one." She handed him a letter. He put it into his pocket without even glancing at the envelope.

At the lunch table, she toyed indifferently with her food. Several times she looked at him and then lowered her eyes. Then Morley said:

"I want to admit that I've been wrong about Leslie Curtis, dear, please forgive me. The boy will be as welcome to me as he is to you from now on. Perhaps the thought that we had no child of our own angered me against him."

"It's the first time I've heard you say anything like that, Cliff. I want a real home. It's never one until there are children in it."

"A woman's point of view that. My home is where my love is!" The expression in his eyes was intended to convey great significance. Ardor, impatience to possess her.

"When are you going to take me to see the mine?" she asked. "I want to get acquainted with my new property."

Morley looked up surprised, almost startled. "Better leave mines and miners to me." His voice snapped curtly. For an instant he forgot his good manners.

"On the contrary, I've no intention of doing that. I want to go over the property thoroughly. The letter in your pocket is to my attorney instructing him to send us, as quickly as possible, the best engineer for our sort of exploration."

"I don't want an engineer on the property. And I don't want any more exploration."

"Nonsense, Cliff, you've lost the heavy gold vein. We must find it again." She was hoping with all her heart that he would tell her then that he had already found the gold he had been searching for.

"I'll have my own way of finding it."

"But it's ridiculous to delay about it now. I have all the money necessary to go full speed with the work."

"You must let me be the judge about things in the mine."

So he wouldn't confess the truth that she had heard Oliver shout to him when he was in the library talking to him. Why?

TOKYO KID AIDS

SANTA MONICA, Cal.—(U.P.)—The Tokyo Kid spurred both rubber collection and bond sales in this beach community.

Created by Jack Campbell, aircraft worker, the Tokyo Kid was a huge Jap face with hinged teeth. Citizens were invited to hurl their rubber at the Jap—and knock his teeth out with a square hit.

Framed by such slogans as "Let's Choke the Jap with Rubber Scrap" and "Slap the Jap in the Yap," the Tokyo Kid leered forth from the Victory House on a downtown Santa Monica street corner.

ASKED DUTY ON BRITISH FLAGS

Customs Officials Seek To Collect Tax on Banners Used To Fete Heroes.

(By United Press)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — An "act of international good will" between the United States and Canada was necessary to provide a background of Canadian and British flags for visiting war heroes.

And it saved the city of Minneapolis $340.

The situation arose when Mayor Marvin L. Kline went in search of Canadian and British flags to be used in decorating the Minneapolis auditorium where war heroes—some of them British—were to be feted.

The mayor of Winnipeg offered a loan of the flags. But customs officials demanded 40 per cent duty—or $340.

Kline then appealed to the department of state for release of the flags from customs. His request was refused, but he tried the treasury department which side-stepped regulations by declaring the procedure an "act of international goodwill," and released the flags.

Henry Ford was born on a farm near his present office at Dearborn, Michigan.

MARINES SCORE NEW GAINS IN SOLOMON FIGHT

Fall of Tulagi Airport To Powerful American Force Reported Near.

was in progress on land, at sea and in the air.

The Japanese were battling desperately, on this seventh day of the battle of the Solomons island, in defense of their base against the first great United States offensive, back by Allied aerial and naval units.

So important did the battle loom in the minds of Australians, that it was believed the Japanese might at any time start a mad dog attack on the north coast of Australia as a diversion, aiming at the great Allied base of Darwin

The Japanese have been heavily reinforced in this northwestern zone recently.

Reports indicated that in the present phase of the battle:

1—The United States attack fleet was heavily engaged with Japanese naval units probably strongly reinforced during the seven days since the American attack on the Tulagi area of the Solomons, started.

2—Japanese planes, bombers and fighters, land based and possibly carrier based were attacking ferociously the Marine shock troops who had effected safe landings and the United States supporting fleet.

3—United States naval planes were protecting both the fleet and the landing forces.

4—The Marines were battling through the island step by step, through swamp and grove, over grassy plain and up crocodile infested streams

The southwest Pacific battle zone had now spread over a gigantic area in which Gen. MacArthur's planes were making their greatest raids of the war on Japanese bases and shipping. United States army air corps planes were not only attacking the chief enemy bases in central and southern China, but were reported to have attacked Japanese Formosa off the southeast China coast. Australian jungle troops were attacking the Japanese in the Kokoda area of interior New Guinea.

The United States forces had won the first phase of the Solomon island battle when they effected their original landing

It was now indicated at the end of a week, that definite victory in this first great Allied offensive in the Pacific might be in sight.

A navy communique issued at Washington last evening reporting that the Marines were consolidating their landings was believed here to mean that it was now about certain they were there to stay and to command one of the most valuable harbor and bay areas in the Pacific

Gen. MacArthur, concentrating every available plane in support of the Solomon island forces, threw a fleet of new Boeing flying fortresses into a dramatic daylight attack on the great Japanese base at Rabaul, in New Britain northwest of the Solomons and east of New Guinea

The great four-motored bombers struck a 15,000 ton enemy ship with heavy bombs and left it aflame. They saw a second ship of similar tonnage sinking by the stern and left two medium sized ships aflame and listing for a plunge.

Medium bombers strongly attacked shipping in the Banda sea where the enemy had occupied the Kai, Tanimbar and Aroe island, and attacked installations at Japanese bases in the islands, between northern Australia and New Guinea.

Another fleet of medium bombers attacked shipping off the south coast of Dutch Portuguese Timor island at the southwest side of the Banda sea

MacArthur sent fighter-bomber planes into action for the first time in the southwest Pacific to aid the Australians who are fighting the Japanese in the Kokoda area of New Guinea.

A big force of new Bell Airacobra P-39 fighters, among the fastest and most heavily armored planes in the world, were equipped with bomb racks and sent against the Japanese.

There was expectation that the Tulagi area would become an Allied base which could protect the vital sea lanes to Australia, put a formidable if not unpassable barrier between the Japanese and New Caledonia and New Zealand to the south, and provide, eventually, the springboard from which an Allied army would start northward, first to take back the north coast of New Quinea and New Britain island adjacent to it and then to Begi the definite Pacific offensive toward the Philippines.

Japan Postpones News of 'Victory'

LONDON—(UNS)—The populace of Japan, tensely awaiting details of the engagement in the Solomons which were promised for today, was rudely disappointed when a naval spokesman broadcasting over the Tokyo radio said that the announcement would have to be postponed

The spokesman said merely that details "probably" would be available tomorrow

Three days ago the Jap's claimed a tremendous victory in the battle.

Honan Area Feels U. S. Air Strength

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, China—(U P)—American fighter planes carried out a "highly successful" attack Tuesday on Japanese-occupied Yochow in northern Honan province and returned to their base without loss, it was revealed today in a communique of Lieut Gen Joseph W Stilwell.

The planes dropped high explosives and incendiaries, all of which "landed within the town," the communique said.

The Honan attack was a continuation of strong assaults by American bomber and fighter squadrons on Japanese bases throughout central and eastern China designed in part to prevent the Japanese from rushing aerial reinforcements to the Solomon island battlefront.

THREATENS TO EMPLOY TROOPS

Labor Board Head Tells Jersey Strikers Army Will Move Plant Picket Line.

said that Mr. Roosevelt would act to end the "wildcat" strike if other means fail to effect a speedy settlement.

The strike is viewed as the first test of the policy recently laid down by the War Labor Board, with presidential approval, that wage increase demands by war workers shall be adjudged in relation to the increased cost of living.

Davis said that an attempt to settle the strike was being made at Bayonne today.

"We hope they (the negotiators) reach a settlement," Davis said, 'but if they don't we will remove any picket line which may be set up and keep the plant open for production."

Asked who would remove the picket line, Davis replied that it would be "the army." The Bayonne plant has been closed since the strike was initiated Monday night, and no efforts have been made by management to resume war production Consequently, no picket lines have yet been established by the striking employes

Davis made it plain to newsmen that he was outlining 'the next step" to be taken by the federal government in the event that efforts to mediate the strike fail.

The strike, now in its third day, involves more than 1,000 workers engaged in war production, and was called after the labor board had refused to grant a 10-cents-an-hour wage increase and two weeks paid vacation.

The WLB decision, it was said, was taken in accordance with the anti-inflation policy laid down in the recent "little steel' case, under which demands by war workers for higher wages shall be judged in relation to increased living costs of the workers

The WLB which had reviewed the case since July 1, rejected the wage-increase demands, but granted a three-cents-an-hour bonus for workers on the plant's two night shifts who figured largely in the disorders. He armed his men with bamboo rods and instructed them to bring in all unruly youngsters and spank them.

"Indians well understand that 'spare the rod and spoil the child' philosophy," he declared. "We spent most of the night warming pants for the good of India and the United Nations."

(In London the India office declared the situation was "well in hand" and said any impression of widespread disorder was distorted. There are no indications of any widespread mass movement and the war effort of India has not been impeded, the statement added.

(At the same time Britain's Labor party appealed to the people of India to "unite with the United Nations" and wait until the end of the war to press their demands for independence The Labor party statement approved the arrests of Gandhi and other nationalist leaders as "a timely and unavoidable precaution.")

U. S. Maintains 'Hands Off' Stand

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States is following a "hands off" policy in the Indian crisis and American military forces in India have been ordered to avoid even the appearance of participating in the internal strife touched off there by Mohandas K Ghandi's "freedom now" campaign

This was made clear in a statement of policy incorporated in orders to the American forces in India and made public by the state department last night.

American military units — consisting mainly of air personnel — have been stationed in India for some time, engaged principally in relaying war materials and planes to embattled China by air, or in aerial action against the Japanese in Burma

Raises Cry of Suppression on Wood Alcohol Use

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The senate patents committee was told Wednesday that an agreement between Standard Oil company (New Jersey) and the German chemical trust, I. G. Farbenindustrie, retarded production in the United States of methanol, a wood alcohol with possibilities for use as a motor fuel.

John R. Jacobs, jr., until recently a special attorney of the justice department, said the German concern used the agreement, made in 1936, not only to receive strategic information from Standard about isoprophyl ether for aviation gasoline, but also to prevent Standard from constructing a methanol plant in this country.

Wearing the uniform of an army private, Jacobs declared the agreement showed cooperation among I. G Standard and the DuPont company in which Standard bought methanol for its anti-freeze mixtures from DuPont at 17½ cents a gallon, or about half the published price, to avoid competition

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1942.

Had you noticed that none of those rumors is accompanied by an affidavit?

Unheard remark: "I'm certainly glad I didn't get the nomination—the winner is a much better man for the job."

Word comes that Hitler is writing a book to be published posthumously—and next month would be a fine time to assure big sales.

Another 'Ceiling' Dilemma

SKY-HIGH meat prices are being widely discussed by consumers nowadays—and here's another one of the things about which authoritative information from the Office of Price Administration would be appreciated—and possibly helpful.

It appears that there is a "ceiling" on prices that packers may charge, and also a "ceiling" on retail meat prices—but that there is no limit on the price farmers and stock raisers may charge.

So it comes about that packers, in order to get supplies, may be required to pay more for a beef, or hog, than they can get out of it at "ceiling" prices, and the same condition applies, in some instances, to retailers.

But the government, in order to be assured supplies for men in military service, goes above "ceiling" prices as much as four cents a pound in buying from packers, which allows a subsistence margin that doesn't exist when sales are made to retailers.

A beef deficiency has already occurred in many areas and there is no assurance that there will not be a more severe shortage later on—the production problem being further complicated by the high cost of feed, on which there is no "ceiling."

Here is another instance of the folly of attempting to enforce "ceiling" prices without controlling all of the elements that enter into costs—which in this case is farm prices.

It may not be possible to let farm prices find their natural level, but surely it is perilous to all classes, including farmers themselves, to insist on propping them up at arbitrary high levels, regardless of consequences.

Pleasant Vacation Near Home

TIRES WORN, long trips inadvisable and vacation at hand? Many Americans, finding themselves in this state, are solving the problem by simply going to the country. Many villages and hamlets, even isolated farmhouses offer rooming and boarding facilities. There is freedom from city noises and the glare of city streets. The summer visitor can catch up on reading or writing, sit in the sun, get lots of sleep, and eat good food in the fresh country air. Villagers feed their guests potatoes dug that morning; tomatoes and string beans just taken from the vines, corn just pulled; eggs and milk and peaches which have never seen a storage warehouse.

There is leisurely walking in wood and fields, a dip perhaps in the old swimming hole, or a picnic lunch beside a shady creek.

Nearly every locality offers such retreats. Freed from the competition of more pretentious vacation resorts, these rural resting-places are coming into their own.

Juvenile 'Self Expression'

A DANGER associated with the theory of encouraging "self expression" in children is rather convincingly revealed in the incident of police record involving alleged acts of vandalism by three boys—aged 3, 5 and 9 years.

The charge is that these boys broke 66 panes of glass in a North Mulberry street business place—and that's as fine a bit of unrestrained juvenile "self expression" as can be imagined.

How are children of the ages of 3, 5 and 9—or even older—to know that there is anything wrong about damaging or destroying other people's property unless that is a part of their home training? In fact, how are they to know about any laws, or rules of behavior, unless this is included in their early training?

Of course the parents of juvenile offenders are responsible for any damage done by their children—but the "self expression" phase of it still seems to be left unsolved.

Deeds Must Evidence Determination

THE YOUNG LAWYER came to say good-bye before going to camp. It was one of the worst nights of that first week in August which holds the record of being the most discouraging week of the war so far.

Only the middle-aged mother of the family was at home. She said:

"I have held tightly so far to the belief that we cannot lose this war. Churchill told us that 1942 would be the year of preparation, of catching up with the enemy in material and trained man power, that 1943 would see the United Nations taking the offensive and 1944 would see the victorious end of the war. When each defeat came along, Bataan, Singapore, Tobruk, Sevastopol, I took them in stride. I knew we had to expect defeats this year. Any victories, small or large, would be velvet. For any great action we must wait for 1943. But I declare, this business in the Caucasus is getting me down. If Germany gets that oil and those fields of grain, with slave labor to work them, I cannot see what can stop the Nazis at all."

"You forget just one factor, Mrs. Blank," said the young man, "the American people have determined not to lose this war."

But, after all, it is fighting power plus determination, that must be depended upon to win the war—"determination" alone will not do it.

Effects of Increased Rainfall

WATER LEVELS on the Great Lakes and their outlets are up this year more than a foot, and still rising. Presumably a large area around that region, including much of northern United States and southern Canada, is starting a new cycle of rainfall, after a comparative drouth of several years.

It is a good thing for the vast water-borne traffic of the Great Lakes, whose shipments of iron ore and other materials from the Superior region this year is expected to reach about 100 million tons. The higher the water rises, the more ore and other freight can be carried.

The rainfall is good for forests and crops, too, which are making a fine growth. But unfortunately men to handle the timber and crops are scarce.

EXERCISING THE FAMILY PET

Lack of Repair Parts Hits Hard

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Wartime prohibition of new mechanical gadgets, for household and business purposes, wouldn't be so bad if it were possible to keep the old ones in working order. The trouble is that the last generation of junk has begun to fall into disrepair and the skilled craftsmanship to fix it is lacking, being either in uniform or at work in arms factories.

Illustratively, suppose your typewriter gets out of kilter. You'll be lucky if, for love or money, you can find a guy who's competent to tinker with it.

Toilet facilities are turning ugly. Managers of big office buildings and hotels are half bughouse on the subject. A lot of elevators have started balking.

Automobiles aren't so much of a problem, because their owners can't get the gas to run them. Without fuel or tires an auto is no serious peril. It's lucky for pedestrians that such is the case, for traffic lights are becoming undependable, due to the scarcity of boys who understand their operation.

I surmise that Washington is the worst, in all these respects, of any center in the country, since it is by far the most congested. Our huge industrial cities must have enlarged their populations enormously also, but they were big to begin with. The capital, compartively, was a smallish burg, approximately doubled per capita inside a year or thereabouts. It makes a town ache to swell that fast.

In normal times a loyal Washingtonian would feel somewhat smug at the news of New York City being in the midst of a depression, while his own pet municipality is booming. He doesn't get that sensation now, though. He's too uncomfortable; he's cramped so.

New York's Case.

Manhattan, it appears, never was industrial, except as a headquarters for dressmaking, millinery, gents' furnishing goods, and banking. Dressmaking, millinery and gents' furnishings are having a rough time of it today, naturally. Retailing, generally, has run into trying times.

And big industry, as previously remarked, New York never did have much of it. It wasn't a suitable place for it, its surface being so fully occupied.

Then, as for banking?

The enormous industrial towns have drained most of that off.

Washington isn't one of them. But it's the focus.

Strange as it may seem, for several years I've had a small Washington bank account. I used to be able to go into my favorite loan and trust company, make my modest deposit and sneak out in two or three minutes.

A Banking Boom.

Today I fall in line with dozens of customers, stretching clear out into E street. As an old acquaintance, the teller treats me politely. I have to take a forenoon off, though, to be attended to. Washington's finance is just suffocating: Manhattan's is gasping.

Now, suppose you, a Washingtonian, want a hired man of some sort?

Either you can't get him at all, or, if you can, he is so independent that he, not you, is boss. His nominal superior can't reprimand him either if you complain about it. He'll tell such superior to "go chase himself."

It'll be a pleasure to see some of these lads inducted—under orders.

Listen World!

You Must Have Faith!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SHE WONDERS why I talk so much about faith.

"Isn't it a little silly," she says, "to use your valuable space for stuff like that at a time like this? Mystics are out of place in these terrible days. We need practical guides—sound advice that will help us face reality. And you keep talking about faith—"

Yes, lady, I keep talking about faith—and for the very reasons you advocate. I'm no mystic. I want practical service as much as you do—perhaps more so. And I too want to face reality and tackle it with the toughest weapon I can grab. That's why I write about faith.

Faith isn't an attitude of vague wishful thinking—dreamy hoping. It's as real and practical as the muscle in your arm—as the stride of your heel—and it functions as realistic ally. Most of us decry faith or belittle it because we have never seen it do its stuff.

Yet every outstanding achievement in human history is an evidence of the power of faith. The cheapest kitchen chair or the noblest cathedral are both the outgrowth of some man's faith in the pattern within his mind. Faith is the toughest weapon any man can wield in a mortal struggle—it is the only weapon which can bring him to victory.

I look at a gun or a plane or a submarine. They are formidable things — these monsters wrought in steel. They stagger the imagination. You find yourself believing in them—thinking they can do the job—feeling that they are all that is needed.

But you're wrong. Guns and planes and submarines are amazing mechanical achievements. But they aren't what it takes to win the war or bring the peace. However appalling they may seem, they are no greater, no more potent than the man who directs them. It is the faith of the man behind the stick or trigger which does the trick.

You want something practical. But steel isn't practical. Aluminum and rubber, dynamite and gasoline — these things have no magic in themselves. No matter how big they are or how tremendous their effect, they are still without magic in themselves. They are actually as insignificant as a kitchen kettle.

IT IS THE FAITH BEHIND THE GUN OR SUB OR PLANE THAT GIVES THEM POWER AND IMPORTANCE AND SIGNIFICANCE.

And therein lies a terrible danger as well as a vast service. FOR FAITH MAY BE A VICIOUS AND MISTAKEN THING AS WELL AS A BLESSED THING.

Capone had faith—the unwavering faith, confidence and courage of a mad dog. So did Dillinger and every other outlaw who ever cut a throat or demoralized a city. They all had faith in their right to take what they wanted by any means they chose. And that faith gave their tommy guns a deadly efficiency . . . until a greater faith came along . . . a faith that wrought for order and decency.

Hitler and his slaves have faith too—don't kid yourself that they haven't. They are as fervent in their belief that they are heaven-sent as was John the Baptist and they put that faith behind every lash of their bloody whips—every blast of their hellish guns—every agony and horror in their concentration camps.

They may deny God but they are never foolish enough to deny faith. They know it is the most dynamic force on earth.

That is a lesson we modern Americans must relearn. Our fathers knew it once and despite their weakness and poverty, they built the greatest nation the world has ever seen on the foundation of the faith that was in their hearts.

They had neither money nor power nor sophistication but they believed in themselves and their mission of democracy and that wrought a miracle. But we, their descendants, have lost our faith—smothered it under the comfort and excitement of the machine age.

WHEN WILL WE LICK THE GERMANS AND THE JAPS? NOT UNTIL AND UNLESS WE HAVE AS MUCH FAITH IN OURSELVES AND OUR WAY OF LIFE AS THEY HAVE IN THEIRS.

The Bears of Yellowstone.

It's the firing squad for the "bad" bears of Yellowstone National park. That decree has been handed down by the park service.

Everyone who has been to the great national playground, knows the bears. They are perhaps a more spectacular feature than the mountains or even the glaciers. They can be seen at every roadside, arrant beggars, amiable buffoons, who go through droll antics for a bit of candy or a piece of hot dog.

The bears are not to blame for the fact that they are "bad." It is the people who have spoiled them. A bear is naturally friendly and humorous, but after all he is a wild animal. This is a fact which many tourists never seem to understand.

They go to perfectly senseless risks in sublime ignorance of the fact that they are dealing with potentially dangerous beasts, in spite of liberally posted warnings and constant injunctions by the park rangers.

So hunters are to exterminate a score or so of the "worst." The total population of park bears, estimated at from 800 to 1,000, will not be greatly affected.—Kansas City Star.

Approach to Russian Naval Bases Endangers Soviet Black Sea Fleet

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

THE GERMANS are in the Maikop oil fields of the north Caucasus and there is little reason to hope that they can be stopped short of the Grozny fields, eastward toward the Caspian sea.

Whether the Germans will be able to push down the shore of the Caspian to Baku, Russia's principal source of oil, is problematical. It is a long haul and the Russians may be able to make a stand in the Caucasus foothills sloping toward the Caspian, where the terrain is less suited to the German mechanized advance. The Russian army of the north Caucasus, although badly battered, is decidedly not broken.

However, even if the Germans cannot get to Baku, the gravity of their present gains cannot be minimized. It is probably true that the Russians have razed the oil wells and refineries of the Maikop region and will destroy the wells of Grozny if their fall becomes imminent.

The Russians likewise have destroyed the rich wheat fields of the conquered region, so that the Germans will get no grain and, for the immediate future, no oil.

On the other hand, the Russians have lost an important source of high grade aviation gasoline and the loss of food supplies will contribute greatly to the general shortage expected in Russia this winter.

The fact that the Germans will get no immediate benefits from the conquered oil region is of little comfort. From the long range view, they have made an important acquisition which will bolster their dwindling oil supply and act as a tonic on their war production.

Oil experts estimate that the Germans can get the wells back into production in about six months, or a little longer, although the refineries cannot be replaced in so short a time.

The Germans, however, are driving to the Black sea and reaching out for the Russian naval bases of Novorossisk and Tuapse. If the Russian Black sea fleet is made homeless, it probably will have to be scuttled or turned over to Turkey for internment.

With control of the Black sea, the Germans would be able to ship the crude oil without hindrance to the Rumanian port of Costanta for refining in that country. By midwinter, then, the Germans should begin to get the benefits of the north Caucasus fields, which produce about 5,000,000 tons annually.

Basis for Compromise Proposed To Quiet India Until War Ends

—By DE WITT MACKENZIE

THE REVOLT in India which started as a passive affair has grown to that grim stage where it has become an active menace to the Allied cause.

Mohandas Gandhi's campaign of non-violence to achieve freedom is so far out of hand that many cities are swept with the fearsome sound of mob roar.

What's needed is a basis for compromise. In New York Sirdar Kumar J. J. Singh, president of the India League of America and former member of the All-India Congress committee, has a new plan. He said it would be acceptable to the All-India Congress. Here's the plan:

"Executive power now rests with the governor-general-in-council. Four members of the council are British and 11 are Indian, all of them appointed and what you in America call stooges.

"My suggestion is let five seats be given to the All-India Congress; give an equal number of seats to the Moslem League and let the viceroy himself pick five other members.

"There would be absolutely no constitutional change until after the war. The viceroy would remain as governor general with powers similar to those exercised in Canada.

"The status of the some 560 Indians princes would remain unchanged until after the war.

"However, the United Nations must guarantee complete freedom for India after the war.

"The Indians are prepared to leave military defense to an Allied war council."

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt probably can be rated now as one of the world's foremost amateur military experts.

While associates say Mr. Roosevelt makes no pretense of being an expert (he got quite a laugh out of Hitler's "intuition" telling him to take direct command of the German army in Russia), as supreme commander of American armed forces he has to know plenty about what it takes to wage war all over the world.

Since early summer of 1940, when the Nazis' conquest of western Europe scared this country into a big defense program, the president has had extraordinary schooling in military problems. Since Pearl Harbor that schooling has been intensive.

HE HAS almost daily discussions with the top men of the army and navy, frequently meetings with the Pacific War Council and conferences with military missions from Russia, Britain and China.

He gets the "lowdown" on war plans and developments from Admiral Ernest King, commander-in-chief of the fleet, and from General George Marshall, chief of staff of the army. He sees secret analyses made by our military "best minds" of German and Japanese power and weakness and of the progress of their campaigns.

He studies confidential reports from General MacArthur in Australia, from General, Eisenhower commander-in-chief of U. S. forces in Europe and from Admiral Leahy, recent ambassador to Vichy. He sees similar reports from military leaders in the Pacific, the Atlantic and the Caribbean, in Africa, China, Iceland, the Aleutian islands and Hawaii.

The extent of the president's influence on military decisions is a government secret. When, and if, members of the joint Army-Navy board disagree, the President's suggestions undoubtedly have considerable weight because of his position as supreme commander. His ideas on grand strategy by the United Nations, based largely on information obtained from his military advisers, obviously have much influence with Winston Churchill and Josef Stalin.

WHILE Mr. Roosevelt has frequently demonstrated that he is strong-willed and not bashful about asserting his authority, friends say he fully consults the experts before making a military decision. He has too much sense, they assert, to make a major decision against general opposition by the professional military people.

Army and navy men point out, moreover, that Admiral King, General Marshall, Admiral Leahy and General MacArthur aren't what you would call "yes men."

"Imagine 'Old Eagle Eye Ernie' (King), tough and touchy-tempered as he is, toadying to anybody in a matter of naval strategy," commented one veteran officer.

As background for his present "advanced course" in military problems, the president has an unusually extensive knowledge of world geography, study since boyhood of naval warfare and experience as assistant secretary of the navy during the first Wold war.

This Is Ohio

THERE were published during the early part of the Civil war the Beadle dime novels which were sold by the millions to Northern soldiers.

The inventor of the dime novel was James Orville Victor, an Ohio-born boy who, in his early teens, went to New York and worked in publishing houses that specialized in the production of cheap, popular books and magazines.

For a number of years he was the chief editor of E. F. Beadle's enterprises. The Beadle dime novels edited by Victor were simple, brisk, wholesome stories of adventure, usually in a Western or Southwestern setting. Their success provoked competition, and competition brought with it sensationalism.

Victor lived to see the idea he had devised in the dime novel fall into disrepute and dwindle to insignificance.

A Farmer's Diary

Production Credit

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I HAD often seen the words, Production Credit, without knowing what they meant. It was one of my own near neighbors who enlightened me.

"It's made up of farmers who co-operate to loan and borrow money," he explained. "Every stockholder, every director, and every employe is a farmer, or farm-raised. Every county has an office, now, and business in this county (Richland Co., Ohio) has nearly doubled during the past year. What do you think of that?"

"I think it's interesting," I said. "Tell me more about it."

"Well, you know, yourself, a farmer's cash income is often seasonal or irregular, but his bills come due just the same, the year around. Sometimes he can use short credit to good advantage, if the rates aren't too high. The present rate of interest charged by our Production Credit association is 4½ per cent"

"Can any farmer borrow?"

Our association says that credit is a tool. A man who can't handle tools had better let 'em alone—he's apt to hurt somebody, most likely himself. But if a man can farm and if he can direct his working force and agree with his wife about what they aim to accomplish—and then accomplish it—he's the kind of man who can use Production Credit."

"They are short term loans, you say?"

"Well yes—the due dates are arranged so the man can pay when he sells his crops, and he needn't pay interest any longer than he's using the money. Once a farmer's credit is established he is assured of a satisfactory place to get credit, whether times are good or bad. It's part of a nation-wide system, you see, that provides a uniform basis for agricultural production all over the country. It won't go out of business after a change of the administration, because it has been operating long enough and soundly enough to prove its worth."

"What security does the borrower give?"

"His chattels, as a rule . . . of course his personal integrity must be unquestioned. Our association aims to help worthy farmers who need financial guidance. Why I've heard tell that the man who started the whole thing was a boy whose old parents lost their farm during the last depression for need of such a lift as this kind of co-operation gives. Seems to me it's kind of a modern adaptation of the Golden Rule. Anyway I'm kindo' proud to be one of those 1088 members in this district."

SAYS CHILDREN DEPENDABLE IN WAR EMERGENCY

Singer Says They Should Be Given Something To Keep Them Busy.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK — Ireene Wicker, who as radio's singing lady has entertained thousands of children in peacetime, said today the best way to handle youngsters in the excitement of war is to give them something to do.

Miss Wicker, who has been amusing children and grown-ups since she was 12 when she played in summer stock, recently augmented her experience in dealing with the young with courses in child psychology and day nursery routine.

"It has been shown through studies made on children in war areas," Miss Wicker said, as she sat in her sunny apartment relating her experience in settlement house work where she puts her talents to wartime uses, "that children rapidly mature in wartime.

"The best thing to do, to keep them from going to pieces from emotional strain, as many children did in England under the early bombings, is to give them small tasks to work at."

Miss Wicker said the smallest child in the settlement was given some chore, even if it was nothing more than bringing a candle to blackout drill.

"One five-year-old boy was delighted to be a salvage worker," Miss Wicker related. "He collected twice as much rubber as some of the adults, and he insisted on being paid his penny for every pound of it.

"Children in wartime tire of their usual games. They don't want to play blindman's buff. They want to learn elementary first aid. The older ones enjoy learning how to help the younger ones."

Miss Wicker said she belongs to the school of thought that believes in explaining war dangers to children, but not in frightening them.

"Children can be given courage and taught to take care of themselves," she said, "if adults explain the dangers of war emergencies without frightening the wits out of the little ones.

"Many times the young are more dependable in an emergency than older people They are nearly always clear thinkers because they are not inhibited by a lot of old thought patterns"

Miss Wicker taught a settlement house group a number of songs and stories to use in amusing younger children during raids or blackouts.

"The children like best the familiar stories," she said, "such as Jack and the Beanstalk, Sleeping Beauty and Snow White. We also taught them many singing games"

Miss Wicker pointed out that the mistake made in England, of separating children from parents, should be avoided. She said day nurseries which keep children near their parents, working in war industries, was the course being followed in England now and the one to be used here.

Wife Heckles Husband's Selections Even After Death.

LONDON—(U P)—The autobiography of a woman who died recently in Sussex reveals that she nicknamed her husband "authority." In spite of this name, however, it seems that he was not altogether to be relied on so far as her choosing a dress was concerned, for she wrote.

"A man will keep you talking 20 minutes about trouser patterns; will, of course, make his own selection in the end; but if you go into his room to ask him what you look like in your new gown, he will look up from his paper, saying 'Oh, all right,' and go on reading without having seen you."

AT LAST! At your grocer's today the new kind of bread you have heard so much about. The "patented flavor" bread which already has taken the place of ordinary kinds in over 540,000 American homes because:

1. Because it brings more of the rich, natural flavor of wheat full-ripened in the sun than white bread robbed of Nature's bounty. Thus, is better for taste.
2. Because it contains more natural vitamins and minerals of wheat now than ever before thought possible.

You can see the difference at once. Gone is the chalk-white look of the ordinary baker's bread. Instead, this new "patented flavor" kind has the color of the cream on the top of the bottle of milk.

A Remarkable Discovery

Everybody knows the trouble with ordinary white bread. Made from flour bled white in refining to make a whiter loaf. Then Theodore Earle patented his discovery (U. S. Pat. Nos. 2143306, 2232697, 2155219, 2232696). And here is the secret of "patented flavor."

By removing the bad-tasting outer skin of the grain, you get this richer, better tasting loaf. A bread the color of cream; tender in texture and crust. And with more natural vitamins and minerals.

To obtain this amazing new "patented flavor" loaf—ask your grocer for the new Wonder Bread. And see for yourself why women everywhere are quitting ordinary white bread for this new kind at the rate of over 5,000 a week now.

A Great Thrill

Most people are astonished and thrilled by their first taste of this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread. Not the flat, insipid flavor of the usual chalk-white kind. But refreshingly different! Like the taste of fresh fruit after canned. You'll say it's marvelous!

But discover how much better this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread tastes. Mothers of growing children and wives of men who work should serve it instead of any ordinary vitamin-deficient kind.

Then, too, "patented flavor" Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it. Because slo-baked for lasting freshness—baked 13% longer than many ordinary kinds.

See how much longer "patented flavor" Wonder Bread stays fresh in the bread box; how much longer sandwiches stay fresh in the lunch box.

Ask your grocer for the bread with "patented flavor"—the new Wonder Bread—today sure. You, too, will be surprised and thrilled with it.

U. S. FIGHTING PLANES LAUNCH EUROPE ATTACK

Stage 31 Raids in 48 Hours With RAF; Harass Nazis on French Coast.

que, American fighters participated in eight interception operations against Nazi planes heading for Britain.

The communique revealed for the first time that American air operations against Europe have been placed upon a routine, 24-hour basis.

The first American air participation occurred July 4 when a force of six American light bombers joined the RAF in attacks on Nazi positions in France and Holland.

An army air force spokesman said that the American fighter operations were carried out from RAF airfields.

An air force spokesman said that probably only a few American airmen participated in each of the operational flights and said the action was "sort of a beginner's proposition."

However, he said that the statistical summary of the communique shows that the process of training American fliers in operational work is picking up.

He would not indicate the scope of the American air operations or how soon the American airmen would be ready to carry on their own operations.

The American fliers used RAF planes in their operations, he revealed.

Mainz Battered Again By RAF

LONDON — (INS) — Mainz, important German industrial and railway center at the junction of the Rhine and Main rivers, was bombed last night for the second successive time by a strong force of British planes, the air ministry announced today.

(Editor's note: A German high command communique, with unusual frankness, admitted that "destruction on a large scale" was caused by the attack on Mainz. Large fires were started, the statement said, As usual, the communique maintained that the British bombing was confined to residential quarters and inflicted loss upon the civilian population "whose behavior was exemplary." Four British bombers were reported shot down.)

Nazi-held airdromes in the low countries of occupied Europe also were blasted.

Five of the Royal Air Force bombers failed to return to their bases.

Planes of the German Luftwaffe simultaneously conducted scattered raids over England. The outskirts of London were included among points which felt the impact of Nazi bombs.

While R. A. F. fighter squadrons hopped across to occupied points in western Europe to bomb Nazi installations German big guns along the French coast between Boulogne and Calais hurled shells across to the Dover straits to England. British artillery batteries replied and an hour-long duel was precipitated.

New blazes were started in Mainz when the British bombers conducted their second attack within less than 24 hours against the city. Flames still smouldered as a result of Tuesday night's heavy assault by a force estimated at 400 planes.

Goebbels Admits 'Painful' Damage

(By United Press)

Dr. Joseph Goebbels, German minister for propaganda and public enlightenment, today admitted in his latest weekly article for "Das Reich" that Germany is suffering "painful wounds" from the RAF's summer offensive, and threatened that the German air force would eventually make reprisal raids on Britain—whenever more planes can be spared from the Russian front.

According to a DNB broadcast of Goebbels' article, to appear Friday in Germany, Goebbels characterized the British raids as "just spiteful." Germany's major strategy currently centered on Russia, he explained, and had to be carried out despite "ever so disagreeable events" elsewhere.

U. S. Planes Attack 3 Italian Cruisers

CAIRO — (U.P.) — A large force of United States bombers bombed and set fire to three Axis cruisers in a strong attack on the Greek port of Navarino in the Peloponnesus Tuesday, it was announced today.

Only one of four enemy cruisers moored close together at the Navarino docks escaped damage from the bombs of the American planes, manned by American crews.

Two direct hits were scored on one cruiser resulting in a "big explosion," a hit or damaging near miss was scored on another from which a funnel of black smoke poured and a near miss on the third cruiser was followed by a violent explosion.

The port of Navarino lies about 350 biles across the Mediterranean from the African coast.

Claim Heavy Damage To Allied Convoy

LONDON — (U.P.) — The Axis claimed today that a large Allied convoy and "the bulk of the British Mediterranean fleet" had suffered heavy damage in a three-day battle still raging in the western Mediterranean where the loss of the British aircraft carrier Eagle had been acknowledged.

The British admiralty maintained complete silence regarding the Axis boasts, contained in high command communiques an radio broadcasts, after announcing yesterday that a U-boat had sunk the 24-year-old Eagle with small loss of life.

The announcement of the sinking of the Eagle said that "at least one U-boat operating in the same area already has been sunk," indicating that the fight was continuing at that time.

The Italian high command in its communique today said that "hits" had been scored, presumably by bombers, on additional aircraft carriers.

Take Nazi Prisoners In Egyptian Patrols

CAIRO — (U.P.) — British Imperial patrols have taken prisoners in continued activity along the front west of El Alamein, a communique said.

Artillery in British and Axis lines exchanged fire yesterday.

Dust storms reduced aerial activity in the battle zone.

tighten control over the Dutch civilian population.

The German troop train, loaded with soldiers, was wrecked last Friday and the Nazis have announced that unless those responsible are apprehended by tomorrow night, hostages will be executed. It was not clear whether the threat implied the execution of all the 1,000 to 1,500 hostages reported to be held by the Germans.

Sabotage In France And Norway Reported

LONDON — (INS) — Reports of widespread sabotage against Nazi installations and supply trains in Norway and France were received in London today.

A Reuter dispatch from Stockholm said that many German soldiers were reported killed and wounded when a troop train collided with a fuel train on the Douai-Arras line in France

The resultant explosion was said to have wrecked 44 trucks, 19 tank cars and two engines. Sabotage was suspected, the report said.

A similar incident was said to have occurred recently at Lille where a German troop train crashed into a freight train, killing 100 Germans and injuring many others.

The Soviet information bureau, Reuter reported from Moscow, said that Norwegian patriots recently wrecked a powerful turbine installation at Stavanger. Two work shops and an aluminum works were said to have been destroyed by fire.

Wills was All-Ohio quarterback when he played with Ohio university in 1934 and 1936. He had been a member of the Coshocton coaching staff for two years.

SAN FRANCISCO — (INS) — A preliminary "yellow" alert, the twenty-third of the war, was ordered in the San Francisco Bay region today at 8:13 a. m. by the fourth fighter command. The all-clear was issued at 8:29 a. m. when an unidentified plane was identified as friendly.

There was no radio silence.

The car most badly damaged was owned by William Hooper, 332 Wayne street. Police said the auto was "a total wreck." The other two cars were owned by Luther Poulton, 528 North Mulberry street, and Martin Enderle, 221 Rhein street.

In a somewhat similar accident, a few hours later, Willis B. Taylor, 42, of 13 West First street, escaped with an injured right hand when he jumped free of his automobile when it struck the side of a passing Baltimore and Ohio railroad train at the Longview avenue crossing.

Taylor told police that his brakes failed as he was going down the incline toward the railroad tracks and that he was unable to stop the car from hitting the side of the train. The front of the auto was badly damaged but Taylor's injury was not serious. He was treated at General hospital.

Joan Cox, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Cox, Mansfield R. D. 1, suffered a fractured leg yesterday afternoon when her bicycle collided with an automobile near here home on North Main street road.

State highway patrolmen said the girl apparently turned into the side of an automobile operated by William F. Garrison, 34, also of Mansfield R. D. 1. She was taken to General hospital where her condition was reported as "good" today.

HE'S ASTOUNDED

Columbus Liquor 'Joints' Stay Open After Vice Probe.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Col. O. M. Baldinger, commander of the Lockbourne army air base, today criticized the state liquor board for failure to revoke the permits of 69 liquor and beer places which he has recommended be closed.

Col. Baldinger said he was "astounded that the liquor board apparently has no conception of the seriousness of the problem." He said that failure to act was "indicative of the lethargy with which officials and citizens are conducting themselves during the war emergency."

The war emergency civil authorities committee which studied vice conditions in Columbus and Franklin county sent the names of 22 liquor places to the liquor board with recommendations that their permits be lifted.

which it said 30 of the attackers were downed. The Germans also used parachutists in that lunge at the northern city but they were speedily mopped up, Pravda said.

Although the Leningrad development was recent, no date was given.

Dispatches from the Caucasus front said that one Nazi spearhead already was less than 200 miles from Grozny after breaking through the Russian lines at Cherkessk, a small town in the Caucasus foothills 70 miles southwest of Armavir.

The Russians were reported to have conterattacked desperately in an attempt to seal the breach in their lines, but were forced to fall back.

(The German radio indicated that the Nazi forces might be less than 170 miles from Grozny, reporting that advance elements had reached the "region of the Terek river," which flows into the Caspian northwest of Grozny, in their thrust through Cherkessk.)

Sixty miles northwest of Cherkessk, the information bureau's midday bulletin said, Russian forces were fighting in the Maikop oil fields with enemy tanks and infantry, thrusting toward Tuapse.

General Learns How Tough It Can Be In Memphis Drug Store.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (AP) — Brig. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, the gentleman who bombed Tokyo, learned about war when visiting here recently. Malin Ellis, drug store manager, told this episode:

A man walked into the store, asked for toothpaste but couldn't get it because he had no used tube. Then he wanted an item which the store was unable to get because of the war; finally, he protested against the tax on another purchase. "Well, don't take it out on us," said Ellis. "You've heard about this war, haven't you?"

Replied the man: "I just didn't know. You see, I've been away. Doolittle is my name."

Teach Child How to Use His Money

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Don't let loose change lie about the house. The baby, finding it, plays with it as with toys. He discovers, by and by, that he can purchase sweets with it. Long before he learns the meaning of theft, he may have been spending money which he finds.

When you buy small things like an ice cream cone for the child of four or five, give him the money and let him purchase it. Better work out with him in the early stages of his spending the day or days of each week or month when he may spend. Then see that he is held strictly to this program.

Once he gets the notion that there are only a few and certain days when he may spend, you can gradually lead him to spend his money over a period of time, say a week. Such an allowance should begin only when he is ready to take responsibility for it. For the child of school age, it includes current supplies, lunches, car fares and a very small amount which the child can spend about as he chooses just as soon as he has learned to spend wth some discretion.

Here is a scheme we worked out with our children. They were eight and 10, respectively. They were asked to keep, during the first two weeks of school, an account of those expenditures which were likely to be constant for the term, and to make at the end of two weeks an itemized budget of what they would need each week during the half-year. This was to include a specified amount as savings, school supplies (pencils, paper, etc.), school lunches, bus fares, recreation, Sunday school money, and a small amount for luxuries. Their budgets, which we found surprisingly conservative, were approved.

Each Monday morning they were given their week's allowance. They understood they would be given no more money during the week.

When unexpected needs for money, such as subscription to the school paper, arose, it was supplied. They were urged not to lend or borrow. It worked. They got along on the allowance.

They were not asked to render an itemized report, but were urged to keep one for themselves. We did not want to tempt them to juggle their accounts. When they got the money it was theirs. Extra money which they earned they were urged to put into savings, or to lay aside to grow into a sum large enough to buy something worthwhile. However, they reserved the final choice of its expenditure.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

My father's quizzical smile still played around his mouth as I made my somewhat testy reply to his Quilpish question. If Dicky had been in his place, he would have adjured me "keep your blouse on," but my father is far too old-fashioned for such a retort.

"You mustn't be so sensitive," he told me. "I know of course that you would never bring such a flamboyant looking guest to the hotel, but I couldn't resist teasing you a bit.

"I approve entirely of your giving him the Underwood telephone number, and I do not think Richard will object. At any rate he will come over here tomorrow morning, and you can make the arrangements with him."

"Thank you" I said, then asked "How is Harry?"

More Relaxation.

"Almost completely recovered," my father answered. "If it were not for certain things for which I want them both to watch, there would be no need for Richard to stay there. Incidentally, I am going to loosen the reins a bit so that you may be able to see Richard more often and go out with him occasionally, and I will see to it that Katharine is never left alone here.

"That will be wonderful," I said. "I suppose she is asleep now."

"I think she is," he replied. "She went into the bedroom hours ago, saying she meant to go to sleep, and I have heard nothing from her since."

"Any more questions?" he asker, "or can we switch back to our original conversational track?"

"I'm sorry," I said, aware that sub-consciously I had been dodging further discussion of my restaurant experience.

Wants Madge's Impressions.

"No harm done," he said, "but I am curious to know your impressions of that man while they are still fresh in your mind. I do not mean his description, which you gave so exceedingly well that I could almost see him myself. But did you at any moment, from his face, his figure or his voice, get the impression that beneath his disguise was someone you knew?

I was not yet prepared to tell anyone, least of all my hard-headed, experienced father, of my fantastic conjecture concerning the identity of the man I met in the restaurant, that he might have written the queer fan letter Olina received, but I could give him certain deductions.

"I do not think he is anyone I know," I said slowly, "yet that is hard to tell. His eyes were completely hidden and his make-up is marvelous. In fact I am certain he is a comparatively young man.

"I think he purposely has made his voice more resonant so he should seem older. But once, when he spoke Olina's name, there was a nuance in it that seemed faintly reminiscent of something I could not place."

Guard To Be Doubled.

"Ah!" My father's voice lingered over the expletive, then he asked abruptly: "Anything else?"

"No, except that he impressed me as being truthful, sincere, and terribly in earnest, especially about the danger to Olga and to Olina."

"He doesn't know what precautions we are already taking about those two but I shall see that they are doubled, just on the chance that he may have stumbled on something fresh.

"And, one last thing; when he does contact you, I want you to arrange so that after your interview I may see him myself. I have a vague intuition that I may discover something interesting about him."

He rose, and kissed me when I rose to say "Good-night," then asked surprisingly: "How tired are you? Too tired to see Ronald for a few minutes?"

OLD BIKE STILL IN SERVICE

Author Gets Difficult Questions

Dear Miss Fairfax:

About two months ago I invited two enlisted men over for Sunday night supper. I knew them only slightly. They seemed to enjoy themselves, but I have not heard from them since. I'm wondering if it would seem forward to invite them again, or should I just forget about them?

WAITING.

Before war-time hurry disrupted our good manners, these two young men would probably have paid what was known as a "party call," a visit after having had a meal. But it's too much to expect old-fashioned courtesy these days when everyone is rushing at top speed.

If you found these young soldiers agreeable, it would be quite proper to invite them again. But if they were just young men you were inviting for patriotic reasons and you didn't find them interesting, there is no necessity to repeat the invitation.

Hope Built On Flimsy Foundation.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm a housewife, 28 years old. I have been married for nine years and have a son of four. My husband, four years older than I am, has a fair job, but we're in debt up to our necks, which gives us scant spending money for luxuries. Hence we never go out.

Here's my problem: I met a boy about my age and fell in love with him. He's in the Army and wants me to get a divorce so that I could marry him when he returns. However, I didn't tell him about my little son.

He's a swell dancer, and can give me the things I have always wanted, which my husband cannot. Do you think I should get a divorce? And what about my little son? PUZZLED.

You seem to be building on very flimsy prospects when you consider breaking up your home for anything so indefinite as this soldier promises. He suggests you get a divorce, and he doesn't even know you have a child four years of age.

Falling in love or even imagining one is in love produces considerable mental disturbance. Add to this the excitements of war, and you're apt to have a tremendous bonfire without much foundation.

Impossible Question.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My boy chum has been going "steady" for two years with a girl whose parents are deaf mutes. The boy's parents do not know about this. Do you think I should tell them? Would this physical defect have any bearing on children, should these two marry?

PATIENTLY WAITING.

This is a question that physicians have told me is impossible to answer. Inheritance of this tragic handicap has been ascribed sometimes to the marriage of near-relatives. But this, while possible, lacks scientific verification.

In my early youth I was acquainted with some people who had five children who were deaf mutes and three with normal hearing. The parents were of different nationalities, were unrelated and had never met until they were of age. The father was English; the mother American. Each knew their family history for over a century, and there was never a deaf mute among their ancestors.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T BE A PARROT

"Third hand high" is supposed to be a time-honored maxim, and another is "Don't finesse against your partner." When applied to the opening trick of a deal, this usually means that, when a small card has been led, East should win the trick if possible and, if not possible, must put on his highest honor of the suit to force the declarer's highest card out. You can create a terrific problem for the declarer, though, by sometimes using a smaller card, especially a jack or ten when you hold the ace, if you think he has the guarded king as his sole stopper of the suit at No Trumps.

	♠ K 9 4 ♥ A J 6 ♦ 9 8 6 5 3 ♣ 7 3
♠ A 7 3 ♥ 7 ♦ A J 10 2 ♣ A Q 8 5 2	N W E S	♠ Q J 5 ♥ K 9 8 ♦ 7 4 ♣ K 10 9 6 4
	♠ 10 8 6 2 ♥ Q 10 5 4 3 2 ♦ K Q ♣ J

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♣
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♦
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT

It was plain to East, after West switched suits to 2-Diamonds, that he was fishing for a No Trump game, in case East had the majors stopped, as he did. In fact, it was plain to East at the two tables of a team match, so both landed in the same contract. The play was different, though, and how!

In each case South led his heart 4. At one table North took with his A, following the two "rules" cited, then led back his J, as per standard procedure. East let this win, and then took the 6 with his K. That hold-up won the contract for him. He ran five clubs and then led the spade Q, playing low from dummy and letting North take with his K. Having no hearts to return, North sent back another spade. The J took that, and the two other tricks needed for contract came from the diamond A and spade A.

At the other table, North put his J on the opening heart lead. East studied hard and long. Fearing his K might be trapped by the A if he ducked the trick, he used his K at once. Then, after five clubs, he finessed the spade Q to North. The latter then promptly laid down the heart A and 6 to the Q, South cashing three more hearts and setting the contract two tricks. North's refusal to play third hand high" and his willingness to "finesse against his partner" had defeated the contract.

Tomorrow's Problem.

	♠ 5 2 ♥ J 8 6 2 ♦ K J 6 4 ♣ J 6 5
♠ A Q 7 3 ♥ A Q 5 ♦ 10 9 2 ♣ 10 9 2	N W E S	♠ J 9 8 6 ♥ K 10 4 ♦ A Q 7 ♣ A K Q
	♠ K 10 4 ♥ 9 7 3 ♦ 8 5 3 ♣ 8 7 4 3

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

If South leads his fourth club against East's over-bid 6-No Trumps, how should the declarer play the spade suit in a desperate effort to make his contract?

CONDITION AIR TO HELP WORK IN COAL MINES

Constant Temperature Makes Miners 'Feel Better,' Reduces Rock Falls.

(By United Press)

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Men who dig for black gold hundreds of feet beneath the surface of the ground are benefitting from the same air-cleansing principle that keeps the office of their president cool and dry.

Conditioned air for the miner was inaugurated recently at the Beech Bottom coal mine of the Windsor Power House Coal company on the Ohio river above Wheeling, W. Va., and the 500 men there who turn out a million tons of coal a year to provide power for war production plants in West Virginia and Ohio, already profess to "feel better."

Installed primarily as a safety measure to reduce roof-falls by maintaining a constant temperature and humidity, the air-conditioning also has provided a sorely-needed improvement in the working conditions of miners.

Solve Water Supply.

Air conditioning in mines is not new, according to the U. S. Bureau of Mines, which is keeping close check on the efficacy of the project, and encouraging experiments have been made in Illinois and Indiana mines in recent years.

However, a novel twist, which means the solution of the water supply problem encountered by many mines, has appeared in connection with the new air-cooling program.

Engineers say that rock falls, which trouble all mines, are caused by expansion and contraction of the rock, due to fluctuation in the temperatures and humidity, and variations between the inside and outside temperatures, creating beads of condensed moisture on the rock in the summer and leaving the rock dry in the winter. Rock falls from a pound to a ton — invariably accompany summer drippings.

Other mines have used chilled water to bring the intake air down to the desired temperature and give it the proper moisture content.

Has Many Advantages.

Before releasing the exhaust air from the mine, however, the Windsor plant, which has a limited supply of spring water, passes the cold air through the water that has been warmed in the original process, thereby cooling it for another air-chilling job.

The installation of air-conditioning provides control of a constant temperature and humidity, and since it has been in use, the inner surfaces of the mine have been dry.

Officials have pointed out that control of roof-falls results in several beneficial factors: the elimination of the mental hazard which slows up the miner, the maintenance of production at an even pace without interruption caused by injuries to miners, and through improved atmospheric conditions, the company is enabled to make a larger recovery of coal from its property, thus conserving an important natural resource.

State Can Find No Company To Scrap Tacoma Bridge.

OLYMPIA, Wash. — (U.P.) — The nation may be short of steel, but getting scrap steel from the collapsed Tacoma Narrows bridge into the war program has proved no easy job.

The state toll bridge authority tried to get someone to dismantle the 3,600-ton towers and 3,800-ton cables recently. Only one company bid on the job and instead of offering the state money for the scrap, the company wanted $450,000 to do the job, besides getting to keep and sell the steel.

Several weeks before the state tried to sell some 814,000 pounds of scrap steel from the roadbed. The successful bidder, however, offered more than the OPA'S ceiling price and the state had to reject the bid and advertise for new ones.

MAKE BARRACKS OF SUGAR CANE

Army Uses Cane Sidings for Camp Lee Draft Center.

CAMP LEE, Va — (U.P.) — Compressed sugar cane siding will be substituted for lumber in new buildings to be constructed at the recruit reception centers here, Capt. E. M. Killough, post supply officer, announced.

Captain Killough reported that 18 barracks, officers' quarter and a warehouse will be added to present facilities at the reception center, and all will be constructed with substitute material.

The new material is being used to conserve lumber, and is one of the best insulating materials known, Captain Killough said.

Uruguay produces from 15 to 18 per cent of the world's meat exports.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

(Note: Sigmund Romberg has written some of the loveliest melodies ever played by a 60-piece orchestra or hummed into a sweetheart's ear. Here are some stories about those famous songs—told by himself.—D. K.)

Sigmund Romberg Says—

The last time we met, dear Dorothy, was at a cocktail party when you told me how much you'd like to be a composer, and I told you how much I'd like to be a writer—but I never suspected that you would take me at my word! There have been times when I had to write a brand-new love song for the soprano to sing, with just twenty-four hours alloted me to finish it. But somehow writing a column seems even more terrifying to me.

The other night, however, with your deadline hanging over me, I was going through a drawer in my desk in which I have kept the programs of my old shows. Looking through them, I found faded old programs from the first nights of bygone musicals, some still well-remembered, others all forgotten, and it occurred to me that perhaps you would be interested in some little stories connected with these shows. The mood is frankly nostalgic, Dorothy, and perhaps as you read this a gypsy fiddler should be in the background playing some soft and sentimental songs.

So here they are—a few memories that a drawer of old theater programs recalled to mind.

"THE NEW MOON"—The story behind the song, "Lover, Come Back to Me," is my most vivid memory of that show. Evelyn Herbert, the leading lady, approached me while we were trying out on the road and demanded a "big" song for act two, in which she could show her remarkable vocal range to advantage I sat down at the piano, and after ten minutes of improvising, had "Lover, Come Back to Me" completed. But I thought it was no good—as did Oscar Hammerstein, the lyricist—and so I spent a week looking over something better. Nothing came, though, so with misgivings liberally shared by Oscar and Miss Herbert, we put the song into the show. The first four times she sang it, the song died. Scarcely a hand when she finished. In desperation, I tinkered with it and changed the ending so that the last three notes were high notes on which Evelyn could "go to town." That made the difference, evidently—because from then on the song was a great hit. The lesson it taught me was that American audiences like a big finish—and I have kept it in mind ever since.

"BLUE PARADISE"—This was a show written in 1915 that contained "Auf Wiedersehn," my first big waltz hit. The leading lady was Vivienne Segal, then a novice who came directly from the Curtis School of Music in Philadelphia, with no previous theatrical experience. At the time, Vivienne had the great voice she still has but she was not yet a skilled actress. Her first scene was in the prologue, in which dressed as a flower-girl, she bids her sweetheart goodbye, and the staging required that Vivienne break down at the finish and cry. But she couldn't cry, and no miracles of direction could persuade her to. On opening night, though, the stage manager had an inspiration. As Vivienne waited in the wings for her entrance cue, he grimly told her how bad she would be. He advised her to forget show business and go back to Philadelphia. In fact—and I blush to recall this—he pinched her arm until the tears ran, continuing until it was time for her entrance. Vivienne went on—sang with the required sob in her voice—and broke down in tears at the finish. She was magnificient!

"VIENNESE NIGHTS" — This was a picture I wrote with Oscar Hammerstein in 1929, that contained "You Will Remember Vienna," a nostalgic song that has become the more poignant to me since the invasion of old Vienna. The late Calvin Coolidge, then an ex-president, was visiting the studio with his wife. The set he inspected was a huge replica of Prater, Vienna's Central Park, in which a huge company of grenadiers, peasant girls, romantic couples, etc., sat drinking beer and singing. Mr. Coolidge himself sampled the beer, then sat and watched the scene being shot Afterwards, I asked Mr. Coolidge what—if anything—had impressed him most about the performance.

"Well," he replied, tersely, "I thought that beer tasted pretty good!"

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Glamour factory at war:

Just as many other cities see the new movies before Hollywood gets a look, our town was late in glimpsing a selected program of the "war effort" films on which it has been working these many months.

Coons

Some of the films we saw already are playing the circuits for which they are intended — the training and technical films for the military services, the Office of Civilian Defense, the war production factories.

Others are or will be playing your local theaters where they can be seen with profit by all citizens, for confirmation of the faith of the multitudes, for bolstering the spirtis of the down-hearted Joes, for warming to the unwary and the loose of lip. Not at all incidentally, for information and entertainment too.

I FOUND most impressive the short called "Divide and Conquer" and another called "Mr. Blabbermouth." The former is a documentary presentation of the Hitler technique for fostering feat, dissension and division of a nation selected as his prey, in this instance France. The latter is an amusing, but factual, rebuttal to that gentleman we all know in the title role—the fellow who has it straight from the barrelhead that calamity is brewing in the old tea-kettle if it isn't already about to be poured, the fellow who spares no pains to broadcast every war rumor he hears, preferably on the doleful side.

There's a third film—intended for showing to Army personnel and workers in war production plants — which carries a special wallop. All it does is show the Army's dependence on production, and to compare the "slave-labor" in Axis war production with the free labor of America.

More of these films are coming from the studios every month. Hollywood may have its war heroes before the final reckoning, and its glamour girls may wear themselves out serving coffee and doughnuts to soldiers, but Hollywood's en masse shining, its greatest influence in the war effort, is going to be wielded on celluloid.

And not only in the propaganda shorts and features — the uplifting "Mrs. Minivers" and stirring "Wake Islands"—but in the run-of-the-reel movies.

DIES PROBERS UNCOVER FIFTH COLUMN PLOT

Prepare To Turn Over Letter of Sabotage Instruction to President Roosevelt.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The Dies committee, it was learned authoritatively today, will give President Roosevelt this week a copy of a confidential letter sent from Germany to trusted Nazi sympathizers in the United States advising them that Walter Kappe had been appointed to head a fifth column front in this country.

The FBI is seeking Kappe in connection with its investigation of a Nazi sabotage ring and has charged he was associated with six saboteurs executed here last Saturday after a military commission trial.

Signed by Kappe, whom the FBI described as head of "a contemplated German sabotage organization," the letter, bearing the salutation "Heil Hitler," said:

"I have accepted the leadership of the Comradeship USA . . . on the grounds that a central office of the Comradeship USA must also exist in time of war . . . I depend upon the cooperation of everyone."

In view of the fact Kappe has had more than a year and a half to operate in this country, since the letter was written, the committee was reported to have taken the position that all persons identified with Nazi movements in America should be under constant surveillance.

Along with the letter, it was learned, the committee will send to the White House a list of names of approximately 17,000 persons whose past activities indicated Nazi sympathies.

Close to 3,000 of the names are of persons the committee claims contributed to the "Kyffhauserbund," and several thousand others were identified as being associated with the "American-German Volksbund," which Kappe's letter described as "by far the most active and most indoctrinated combat group in American-Germanism . . ."

How the letter came into the committee's possession was not disclosed. It was written in German, dated at Stuttgart, Germany, January, 1941, and bore an admonition that those who received it were to keep it confidential. It was numbered one of what presumably was a series of instructions sent out by Kappe from the House of Germanism, Stuttgart.

GABLE ON WAY TO ARMY BASE

Film Idol Sworn in Secretly, Leaves California For Training at Miami.

HOLLYWOOD — Clark Gable, idol of millions of film fans, today was en route to Miami, Fla., to begin his three months basic training stint as a buck private.

The actor solemnly took the oath as an army private yesterday in a locked and guarded room at the federal building, 24 hours after he had surprised all Hollywood by announcing his enlistment.

The oath was administered by Colonel Malcolm P. Andrass, recruiting officer. Time and place of the ceremony were purposely withheld to avoid crowds.

Leaving the room as just another soldier in Uncle Sam's army of millions, Gable commented:

"This is the most serious act of my life. To fight for my country is the greatst privilege I have ever received. I shall do my best to be worthy of the uniform."

Despite the elaborate precautions, hundreds of women, mainly employes in the buildings, thronged the corridor outside the room where the 41-year-old film star became a soldier.

Gable's close friend, Andrew J. McIntyre, a studio cameraman, was inducted into the service with the actor. They were to travel in a private compartment to Miami, with the actor in charge.

"That's good," commented Gable when the two were given their transportation and traveling orders. "Here I'm in the service only half an hour, and already I'm in charge of a two-man army."

Hitch-Hikers Who Don't Believe In War Effort Walk

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Phil Box, 27-year-old mechanic-operator for the Associated Press, has become very war-conscious.

While driving his car to work from his suburban home, he frequently gives rides to persons along the highway. In the course of conversation he usually asks where they work.

Three men in their early 30's replied to this question yesterday that they did not work. When Box asked if they did not think they should be in a war plant doing their bit, one of them replied "all that sort of stuff is bunk, and we don't believe in it."

So Box halted the car where he was, and ordered the trio to get out and find other transportation from that isolated spot.

COINCIDENCES PILE UP FAST IN CASE OF THE MIKESELLS

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The nurses at George Washington University hospital couldn't help commenting on it.

Mikesell was such an unusual name. But the two men sitting there in the waiting room obviously were strangers to each other.

Finally, one of the nurses walked over to them.

"Mr. Mikesell," she said, "I want you to meet Mr. Mikesell."

Raymond Mikesell, 29, senior economist at the office of price administration, and Alfred H. Mikesell, 28, scientist at the naval observatory, shook hands and—as the nurses had expected — they were surprised.

They sat down to talk, and discovered that they both came from Dayton, O.; but so far as they knew, they were not related

"My wife is in there expecting a baby," said Raymond. "I'm just cooling my heels, waiting."

"Well, that is a coincidence," said Alfred. "I expect to be a father pretty quick myself."

At 3.40 p. m. Dr Robert Harmon entered the waiting room.

"Mr. Mikesell," the doctor said to Raymond. "I have some good news for you. Your wife has presented you with twins—boys."

"Congratulations," said Alfred to Raymond.

At 4:25 p. m Dr. H. S. Murphy entered the waiting room.

"Mr. Mikesell," Murphy said to Alfred, "I have some good news for you. Your wife has presented you with twins—girls."

"Congratulations," said Raymond to Alfred.

PAYMENTS LAG

Week Left To Pay Real Estate Taxes, Treasurer Warns.

With just a week remaining to pay Richland county real estate taxes for the last half of the year, collections continued to lag today and more than $200,000 was still outstanding, according to County Treasurer Charles C Payne.

Collections of $12,902 yesterday brought the total to $366,124. The total half-year charge is more than $600,000. Final day for paying taxes without penalty is Aug. 20.

The treasurer said his office would be open Saturday until 4 p. m., the regular closing time on other days, for the convenience of property owners who work during the week and are unable to get to the courthouse before closing time.

Receipts are expected to gain sharply during the next week as the public utilities pay taxes on their properties in the county.

NEED MEN FOR LARGER FLEET IN SIXTY DAYS

End of Voluntary Enlistment Predicted in Near Future For All Armed Forces.

By SANDOR S. KLEIN

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Official sources said today they expect the navy to call upon selectice service shortly to provide men for the expanding fleet.

These officials, who are outside the navy, said they would not be surprised if the request were made within the next 60 to 90 days.

Naval officials said the advisability of such a move has been under study but that no action was contemplated at present. The navy now relies wholly on voluntary enlistments to man its rapidly-expanding establishment.

The navy has felt for a long time that the volunteer system provides uniformly better men than would be available under selective service.

Approximately 12,500 selectees were inducted into the navy near the end of the last war. For a few month in 1918 voluntary enlistments were suspended, but they were restored in December of that year.

Before the navy could ask for selectees it would have to get a presidential order. Such an order, naval officials said, has not been asked.

Officials elsewhere in the government foresaw the time, in the not distant future, when the president will order all voluntary enlistments suspended and selective service will be the only source of manpower, not only for the navy but the coast guard and marine corps as well.

Meanwhile, it appeared that the navy was going to have no trouble getting personnel for the "waves"—its new women's reserve. So far 9,000 letters seeking officer-candidate applications have been received from New York, 4,000 from Philadelphia, 3,500 from Boston, 4,300 from Chicago and 1,200 from Washington.

It is now planned to begin recruiting for enlisted personnel for the WAVES around Sept. 10. Officer training will start at Smith college, Northampton, Mass., the first week in October.

Looks as Though Soldier Will Have To Dig Up New One

CAMP EDWARDS, Mass.—(INS)—Private George Dion better do some deep thinking and explaining if he expects to get leave from Camp Edwards this week-end.

Two weeks ago Private Dion sought and received week-end leave with the simple explanation that his wife was "expecting."

Last week-end he reiterated his "wife's expecting" and won another leave.

When he came up with the same reason this week, the officer in charge, queried: "What's she expecting, anyway?"

"She's expecting me home again, sir," replied Private Dion.

EXPECT REPORT OF NAVAL CLASH

Hunt For German Surface Raider Rumored in Atlantic.

RIO DE JANEIRO — (U.P.) — News of a possible naval clash in the south Atlantic was awaited here today as persistent reports of a hunt for a German surface raider continued despite absence of any official confirmation.

A responsible resource reported two days ago that U. S. naval forces and other United Nations warships were hunting the South Atlantic for a surface raider said to be preying on merchant shipping.

ARMY AND NAVY GET CHICAGO'S 'FRONT YARD'

Grant Park Now Used as a Training Ground By Armed Services.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO — The famed "front yard" of Chicago from Navy Pier to Soldier Field is destined for use as a great military-naval training ground, with little space for civilian activities, Park Superintendent George L. Donoghue disclosed.

This area includes the whole of Grant Park from Randolph St. to Eighteenth St., between Michigan Ave. and Lake Michigan, bordering on Chicago's loop, one of the world's most congested business districts.

The army recently took over the Stevens and Congress hotels, two of the city's largest, and prepared them for occupation by 15,000 to 20,000 army air force trainees.

The navy is expanding constantly its activities at Navy pier and sailors practically have taken over the adjacent park areas, Donoghue said.

Donoghue said the army air force asked whether the park would be available to troops if they were quartered at the downtown hotels and the park board gave its approval.

Included in the area suggested for army use are the bandshell and huge area in front for concert audiences, Northerly island, Soldier Field, Adler planetarium, the Field museum, Buckingham fountain, softball diamonds and tennis courts.

Donoghue said the army and navy probably would "stagger" exercise and drill periods to make maximum use of certain sections of the park. Civilian use of certain areas including Soldier Field would be permitted on week-ends, he added.

The order was not expected to affect football games scheduled at Soldier Field but such extended attractions as circuses, rodoes and similar events probably would have to be staged elsewhere.

Col. Walter L. Myer, commandant of the air corps radio training school, took over quarters in the Stevens hotel, said to be the world's largest hostelry, in preparation for arrival of the cadets.

The army air corps took over the Stevens and Congress hotels under a federal district court condemnation order. The action was designed to save months of valuable time and expenditure of millions of dollars to construct quarters for the training school.

The two hotels and adjacent facilities will be known as the Chicago air corps replacement center. Enlisted men will be trained in primary work before being sent to Chanute field, Rantoul, Ill., for further training as mechanics, maintenance men, radio technicians, bombardiers and navigators.

The Stevens hotel contains 3,000 rooms and the Congress 1,000 rooms. Each room has been equipped with double-decker beds. The two hotels together are valued at more than $25,000,000.

The nation's largest naval training center already is located in the Chicago area, at Great Lakes, Ill.

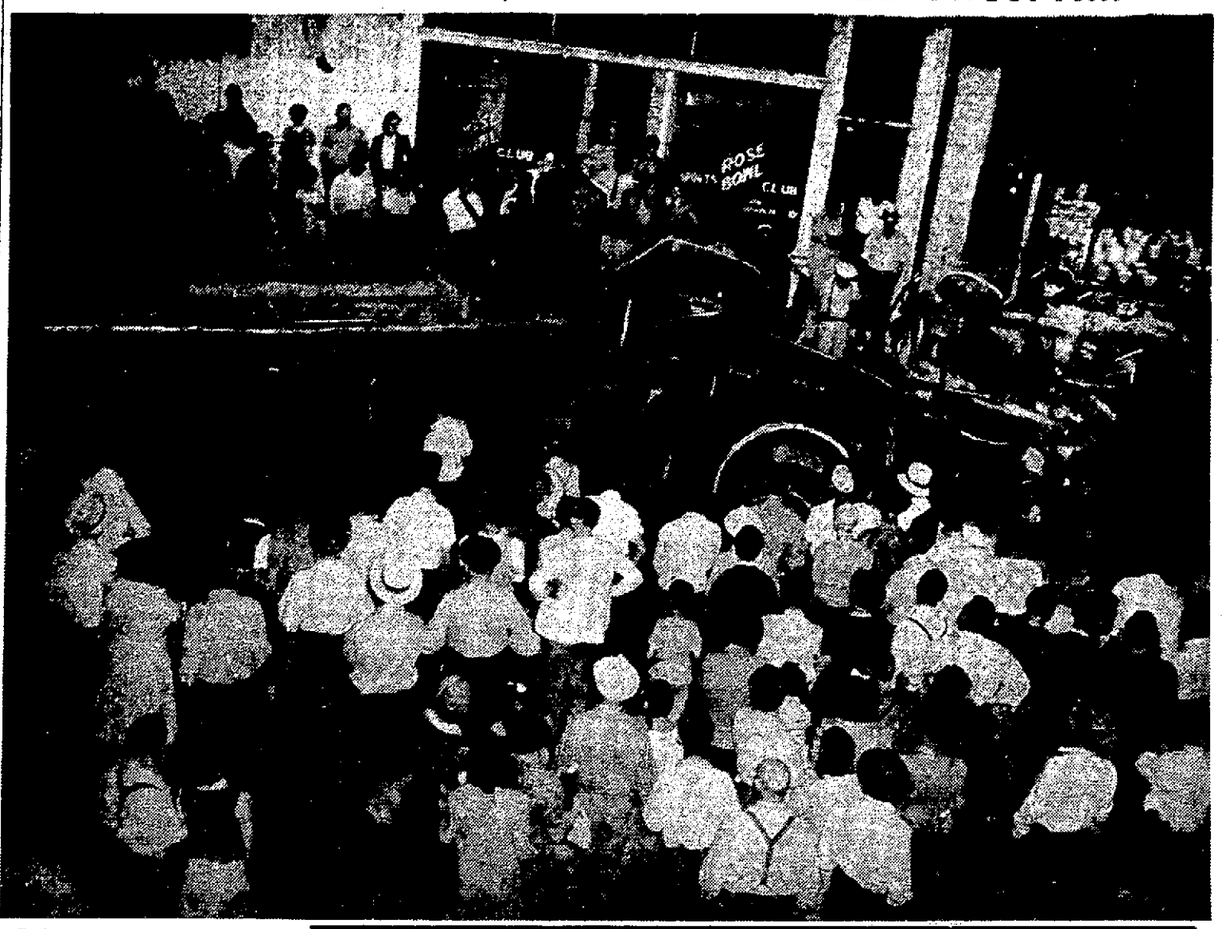
After Truck Made Wild Dash Down Main Street Hill



Defective brakes were held responsible today for two accidents and near-tragedies in the city last night. Three parked cars were wrecked, a passing pedestrian injured and the front of a store window damaged when the transport truck shown in the top picture halted a wild dash down North Main street by colliding with the parked automobiles. Police said the driver prevented death and possible injury to several persons by purposely crashing the truck. The truck-driver swerved his truck when his brakes failed and his path was blocked by a passing train. In the bottom picture, interested spectators examine the wreckage of an auto owned by Willis B. Taylor, 13 West First street, a few minutes after it struck a Baltimore and Ohio railroad train at the Longview avenue crossing. Taylor told police his brakes failed and that he jumped clear of the auto just before it hit the side of the train.

RAF GETS NEW SAFETY JACKET

LONDON—(INS)—A new type of safety flying suit embodying a rubber dinghy and life-saving jacket combined, will be issued to RAF pilots and air crews.

Specially designed for bomber crews, the suit is fireproof, waterproof and wind resisting.

A pilot bailing out over the sea pulls a cord on touching the water. This releases a fully inflated dinghy ready for him to climb into.

ARMY ARTISTS STUDY HOW TO DECEIVE ENEMY

Camouflage Units Experiment on New Methods of Fooling Axis.

(By United Press)

FORT ORD, Cal.—Hundreds of former artists of all types are studying — and practicing — here the latest means of making the enemy think we are where we aren't and that we aren't where we are.

General MacArthur reported from the Philippines that the Japanese were wasting tons of ammunition on dummy installations, while real gun positions, carefully camouflaged, were left to blast away at the invaders.

So rapid are advances in camouflage technique that it is impossible to keep a manual up to date, local officers explain. As a result, the units here not only follow standard principles but experiment on new methods of fooling the Axis.

Chicken wire, fish net, heavy wood mauls, and paint and spray outfits are the chief tools of camouflage units trained here. When the men are proficient in their work they will be sent to infantry, artillery and other units to train more camouflage men and to supervise concealment of installations.

Two men who pioneered modern camouflage technique are stationed in this area. Col. John Ohmer is with the Western Defense command in San Francisco, and Major William Mohr commands a newly activated camouflage engineer battalion at Ord.

Visitors to Major Mohr's outfit find literal proof of the adage, "You can't believe your eyes."

Wearing "zoot" suits, the name given newly perfected sniper suits by the camouflage contingent, soldiers hide in what should be plain sight and then dare observers to find them. They jump from behind dummy rocks and fool photographers — as they have passing aviators — with dummy bomber.

Pvt. Robert Steenberg, a former lithograph artist; Pvt. Stewart Sproul, former art director of Publix Theaters; and Pvt. William Tilton, former background artist at the Walt Disney studios, are among the men in the unit here. Tilton designed Casey Jones, jr., the train, and the clowns in "Dumbo."

Many of the men formerly drew high salaries, but now they are devoting their energies to army work, much of it strenuous physical labor. Mauls are the chief tools of a camouflage outfit. They resemble huge croquet mallets.

Razzle-dazzle designs used for camouflage in World war I have been replaced by the soft, blending tones of artistic deception. Sometimes camouflaged hideaways are dug right in the middle of the road. The man inside waits until he hears a tank or other vehicle pass overhead, and then heaves his grenade at it.

Half-ton trucks are given papier mache tank-shaped coverings with which to fool the enemy.

Many of the camouflage troops have visited the nearby Pacific Grove museum of natural history, where one of the greatest collections of California butterflies in existence is on display. Protective colorings of the butterflies and other animals and insects mounted at the museum have provided pointers in designing the "zoot suits" and other deception.

British Soldiers In Rush to Join Commando Units

LONDON — (INS) — Announcement that the British government is definitely committed to launch a full-scale Continental invasion at the earliest possible moment has resulted in a rush to join the Commandos, it was reported today.

So great is the number of men wanting to become Commandos that only one-quarter of the applicants can be accepted at the moment. This is considered remarkable in view of the high physical standard, initiative, and enterprise required of every candidate, who must also be personally recommended by his commanding officer.

300,000 WOMEN ON U. S. PAYROLL

Total Is Double the Number Employed by Government Three Years Ago.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — More than 300,000 women are on the government payroll throughout the country.

Nearly doubling their number since 1939, Uncle Sam's "favorite nieces" would populate now a city equal to Seattle, Houston, Denver, or Atlanta. The Women's bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor estimated that federal feminine workers in the District of Columbia alone totalled 118,900 in May, 1942, compared to 78,000 in 1941.

So many problems confront these young women that the U. S. Department of Labor recently published a handbook to guide them. Mary Anderson, director of the Women's bureau, supervised the publication.

Needs of the community adjustment at this time are acute, Miss Anderson said. She pointed out that women being recruited into war production program must have physical and mental health to maintain efficiency on their jobs.

The booklet attempts to solve the problem of girls who migrate from one locality to another to secure jobs in factories, offices, or service trades. To assist these newcomers is a challenge to the community in the opinion of Miss Anderson.

Primary problem of the war-working girl in Washington is housing. Living quarters should be up to standards essential for health, privacy, cleanliness and comfort. Room rents should not exceed 20 per cent of a woman's income and her bathing, eating and laundry facilities must be planned for normal living.

Recreation for war employes, according to the Women's bureau, is a necessity. The three-fold pressure of strange surroundings, overcrowdig, and speeding up of industry makes a need for relaxation and self-expression.

Recommendation for a health program include education along lines of disease prevention, first aid, and supplying adequate medical care.

Artist Envisions U. S. Attack on Solomons

The surprise attack by U. S. forces on the Japanese-held Solomon islands, 900 miles northeast of Australia, is envisioned in this artist's conception of the battle. Leathernecks are seen paddling toward shore in invasion barges under a protective umbrella of carrier-based fighters and bombers. U. S naval units in the background seek to silence Jap artillery fire with their big guns while anti-aircraft crews fight off attacking Jap dive bombers.

Says Excess Use Of Sugar Leads To Tooth Decay

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(INS)—The nation's sugar rationing is far too liberal at present to give people the protection they need against tooth decay, according to Dr. Herman Becks, professor of Dental Medicine of the University of California.

After many years of experimenting in his California laboratories, Dr. Becks advanced the theory in Nashville that only one per cent of the population can consume their normal sugar desires without serious harm.

Dr. Becks looks forward to the war to bring wide-spread benefits to the general health of the people in necessary adjustments in diet and to reduce quantities of foods that are harmful to vital organs.

He claimed that flours and sugars in particular are refined to such a degree that the major portion of their vitamin values are removed, and that the war will definitely tend to encourage the use of other natural foods or the unrefined flours to the point where the causes of much ill health will be eliminated.

GIRL JOB-HUNT SWAMPS POLICE

Women Brave "Hard" Language To Get Switchboard Job.

SEATTLE —(U.P.)— The whole business began when Police Chief Herbert D. Kimsey and Mayor William F. Devin conferred and decided to replace policemen on the switchboard with women operators

After consulting the budget department it was decided to pay six girl operators $125 a month each.

Then the applications landslided into the police department. The girls, it appeared, were willing to desert their present positions en masse and join the police department staff.

"The language they would hear is frightful," one veteran police operator said "Believe me, mister, it's something fierce."

"Maybe a few cuss words would not hurt us," one girl replied, "I think I could take it."

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Schedule for the state girls' softball tournament starting tomorrow in Akron, in which the Mansfield Provident Loans defend their twice-won title, seems a bit softballed-up, something like a "softballed egg"—two-minute job.

Providents, drawing a first round bye, are scheduled to play Saturday evening at 6 o'clock against the winner of the Niles No. 2-Elyria No. 2 first round game.

But Carl Wagner, Ohio softball czar, has ruled that there'll be no Elyria No. 2 team in the tournament, and has indicated that there may be further weeding out of the state tourney lists of teams eliminated in district jousts.

* * *

Wagner's action, announced to members of the Provident team by the state commissioner himself, seeks to keep the Elyria district tournament from being the silliest sports competition of the year.

Elyria and North Ridgeville met in a three-game series at Oberlin, a series laughingly called a district tournament, and from which both teams expected to graduate to the state meeting.

* * *

"I fail to see the joke," says Commissioner Wagner. "Only one team will go from that so-called tournament." Ridgeville won the series by taking the odd game Tuesday night.

* * *

It has been customary in the past for state tournament entries to strengthen for the big event by taking on as many as four players from teams in their district which failed to reach the state tourney.

These additions have played a big part in Mansfield's championship bids, but the Providents may go to the Akron tournament without a bit of outside help.

Elyria and Ashland are the only teams from which Mansfield can draw added help, and Elyria doesn't seem inclined to give the help, and Ashland apparently doesn't have the kind of help the Providents need, a pitcher and a hard-hitting outfielder.

"You can have some of our players after North Ridgeville gets its pick, and if our girls want to play with you," the Elyria manager informed the Providents. Which doesn't hang out a very large ray of hope.

But Elyria hasn't released any of its players to Ridgeville yet. They still have hopes of crashing the Akron party.

The Providents have Flip Beattie of Ashland among their eligible players, but she doesn't come under the head of additional help, since she has played the required five games with Mansfield this summer to be considered a regular member of the team.

* * *

Other teams will have outside help in the state tournament, so don't be surprised if the Providents fail to win their third straight championship. It's remarkable enough that they won two titles in a row.

Here's One Way to Aid War Effort

Yanks, Dodgers Reduce Transportation Cost.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

WHILE it may never earn them a citation from the office of defense transportation, the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers appear determined to save themselves and the baseball fans a lot of travel by keeping the 1942 world series within range of a five-cent subway ride.

Both teams won again yesterday.

At Ebbets Field, the Dodgers went to bat in the ninth inning of a scoreless pitching duel between their ace, Lefty Larry French, and Rube Melton of the Philadelphia Phils. They loaded the bases and sent dangerous Dolph Camilli to the plate.

Camilli, however, waited out a walk which forced the winning run across, giving the Dodgers the verdict, 1-0.

Over in the Bronx, meanwhile, the Yankees went to bat against the Boston Red Sox with the score tied in the last half of the ninth. They also loaded the bases with one away and brought up Charlie (King Kong) Keller

Keller slammed one 420 feet into the right-center bleachers for his 18th homer of the year and presented the Yankees with an 8-4 triumph.

The Cards downed the Chicago Cubs twice, 9-4 and 8-3, and the Cincinnati Reds regained third place with the help of "Double No-Hit" Johnny Vander Meer who tossed a three-hitter at the Pittsburgh Pirates in a night contest which the Reds won, 3-0.

Earlier, the Braves knocked the New York Giants loose from their hold on third by sweeping a doubleheader, 1-0 and 8-2.

In the American league, the Yankees victory stretched New York's lead to 13 games over the Red Sox. However, the Red Sox tightened their grip on second place since the Cleveland Indians dropped a doubleheader to the Detroit Tigers, 4-2 and 2-0.

Elden Auker pitched the St. Louis Browns to a 6-3 decision over the Chicago White Sox.

A scheduled game between Washington and Philadelphia was postponed.

Birds Knocked Out of Lead

Split Twin Bill While Kansas City Wins One.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Besides playing baseball, leading teams of the American association today appeared to be participating in another pastime—now you're it, now I'm it—in their mad scramble for top position in league standings.

* * *

Columbus, who yesterday held a split-hair lead over Kansas City, relinquished the top spot by half a game to the Blues when they divided a twin bill with St. Paul and Kansas City copped, 4-1, from Louisville. The Saints edged Columbus, 6-4, in the 10-inning opener while the Birds came back in the night-cap to win, 4-1.

Milwaukee continued in third place moving two games behind the Blues, when they lost to Indianapolis, 7-6, in ten innings.

The Toledo Mud Hens who may turn out to be the surprise team of the AA this year, slapped Minneapolis for an 8-2 win and moved into fourth place, only three games out of top spot. Minneapolis, also three games away from the lead, is but one percentage point behind the Hens

Appropriate Funds For Farm Ponds

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The state conservation and natural resources commission today appropriated an additional $5000 to aid farmers in building ponds for water conservation and fish propagation.

* * *

Available now for the project is $30,000, according to Don Waters, state conservation commissioner. A large number of applications have been received from farmers who want to impound water on their farms, he said. The state will furnish machinery and supplies.

* * *

The commission also appropriated $6000 to the Ohio wildlife research station. It approved 34 leases under the new natural game propagation project which calls for establishment of at least one game refuge in every Ohio township.

Champion Stays In Tourney Race

CHICAGO — (INS) — Paced by Mrs. Russell Mann of Omaha, defending champion and medalist, eight players from eight different states teed off today in the quarter-final round of the women's Western Golf tournament.

Mrs. Mann was forced to shoot a par and a birdie on the last two holes of the Sunset Ridge course yesterday to eliminate Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N. D., 2 up. Today she will square off with Mrs. H. M. Sims of St. Paul, Minn., who defeated Marjorie Row of Detroit, 2 and 1.

RUFFIN FAVORED TO DEFEAT MONTGOMERY

NEW YORK — (INS) — Bobby Ruffin, Astoria, L. I., ruled a 7 to 5 favorite today to defeat Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia lightweight in the main ten-round bout on an all-star card tonight at Madison Square Garden.

The fans, however, were more interested in the designated semi-final contest which will bring together Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh, former welterweight champion, and Corporal Garvey Young of the Marines, who fights out of Boston. Zivic was a 7 to 5 choice.

Indians Drop Six Straight

Punchless Tribe Gets 2 Runs in 18 Innings.

CLEVELAND — (AP)—Thumbers of the record books looked at the Indians today and sighed "They are just where they were last year when the great collapse began."

The Redskins dropped two tilts to Detroit yesterday, 4-2 and 2-0, for their fifth and sixth straight defeats. Exactly a year ago yesterday Pitcher Bob Feller lost to the Tigers, 2-0, for the Tribe's sixth successive setback.

* * *

In the second game of the twin bill last year, Al Milnar turned in a five hit performance and Cleveland won 4-1. The victory put the Indians in second place with .546 average, 14 games behind New York and 2½ ahead of Boston. But the Tribe finished the season in a tie for fourth.

* * *

Cleveland is in third place today, 14½ in the wake of the Yankees. After losing the first game to the Tigers yesterday, Manager Lou Boudreau benched himself, Ray Mack and Roy Weatherly, and sent in Russ Peters, Oscar Grimes and Fabian Gaffke as replacements. Last August Weatherly was accused of "missing signals" and was left here with three other regulars to practice hitting while the rest of the club took a short road trip.

In the opener yesterday, Cleveland took a lead when, after the bases were filled in the first inning with one out, Al Benton walked Boudreau to force in a tally.

The Redskins got another in the third frame when Weatherly opened with a double, Kenny Keltner singled, and Jeff Heath smacked a double to drive in Weatherly. Roy Henshaw replaced Benton, and while Les Fleming was becoming an infield out, Keltner held third until he was run off by Heath to make the second out.

Al Smith, who allowed seven hits in 4⅓ innings, was charged with the loss, the Tigers catching him for one run in the fourth and three in the fifth frame.

Hal Newhouser granted the Tribe five hits in the second game while Detroit collected nine safeties and two markers off Joe Heving in eight sessions and another blow off Vernon Kennedy in the ninth.

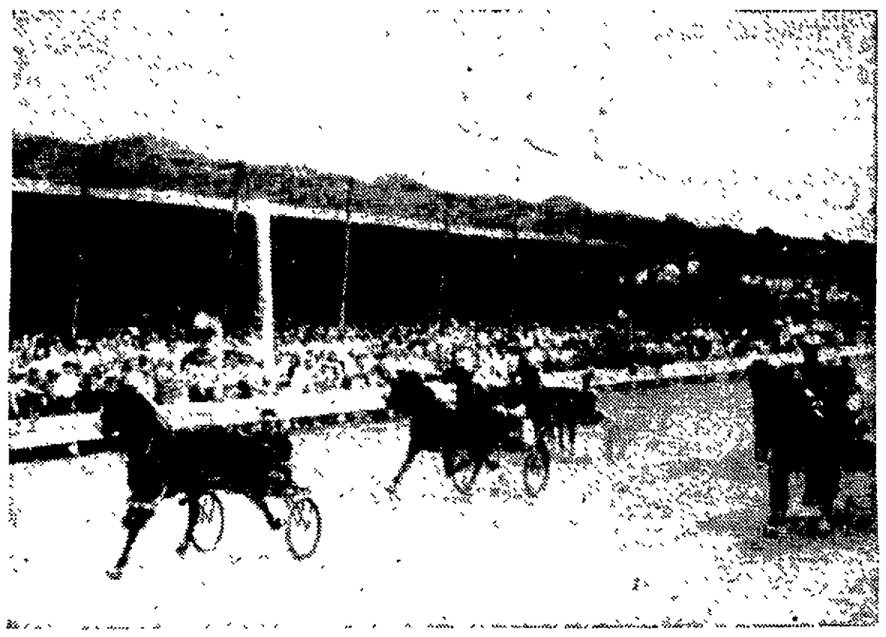
WINS REGATTA

PUT-IN-BAY — (AP) — Puffin, skippered by Alex Winton, won her third straight inter-lake regatta race to take the Northrup cup yesterday. Placing second to the Cleveland Yachting club entry in the standings were LaSalle from the Detroit Yacht club and Clevelander Al Edgerton's Robin.

Ambassador Romps In Hambletonian



Driven by veteran Ben White, the Brooklyn trotter Ambassador is pictured fighting off the challenge of other long shots during the deciding third heat to win the greatest prize money in harness racing, the rich Hambletonian at the old Good Time park, Goshen, N. Y. The high-stepping bay paid $68.20 to win in the second heat and $8.40 to win in the deciding trot. Purse for first place exceeded $20,000.

Hodges Fights Dan Matthews

Faces Tough Opponent On Mansfield Card.

Scrappy Howard Hodges of Marion, a popular fighter in Mansfield rings for the past five years as an amateur, makes his fourth professional start on the Mansfield J. A. C. boxing show at the Armory next Wednesday night.

Hodges has a tough night's work cut out for him, meeting Dan Matthews of Columbus in the top four-rounder of the preliminary card.

When Beauford Glover was climbing to the top of Mansfield fistic circles, he met Matthews five times, and has not yet knocked out the Columbus lad. It will be Matthews' third professional bout.

Mansfield's popular Paul Carbetta battles Carl Netzel of Cleveland in the top 10-round bout. A six-round semi-final bout and four four-rounders complete the card.

J. A. C. officials have arranged to install large fans in each corner of the armory for the comfort of the fight crowd.

Score Five Runs In Extra Frame

North Lake Juniors scored five runs in the eighth inning, in the first extra-inning game of the boys' softball league, and defeated Johns Park 7-2 yesterday. It was the last game of the season for both teams.

Prospect Juniors romped over Paul's 12-7 in the other game. Theesen hit a home run for the losers.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Don't call that three-ring fight circus at the Garden tonight an "all-star" affair if you want to stay on good terms with Mike Jacobs. . . . Mike still remembers that famous "tournament of champions," when he didn't exactly lose his shirt but lost enough to pay for a few dozen good ones, with collars, ties and cuff links. . . . Another war casualty is the Foxcatcher National Cup Steeplechase, American counterpart of England's Grand National.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Troy Gordon, Coffeyville (Kan.) Journal: "Gaylor Enos, Seneca, Mo., shortstop who became too old to participate in Ban Johnson baseball, is umpiring in the southeast Kansas circuit. And why not? It's common knowledge that when a player is too old for baseball he turns to umpiring." (P. S. for the uninitiated: Ban Johnson baseball is for youths 21 and under.)

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE.

Tip from the midwest is that Missouri will be the team to beat in Big Six football this year. . . . The story has been going around for a couple of weeks that Mike Jacobs had reached some sort of an agreement with the army for a Louis-Conn fight, but when it finally busted into the papers yesterday, Mike's only comment was "I hope it's true." . . . Good hint on what to expect in the Chicago all-star football game comes from Bob Zuppke's remark: "Conventional football can't defeat the Bears." Zup is coaching the all-stars, and he doesn't like to lose.

LAST LAUGH.

Frank Frisch, whose opinion of umpires isn't very complimentary, was popping off to Bill Klem one day, arguing that he could do the job a lot better than some of the major league "Blind Toms." . . . "I'll show you," Frank howled, and he waved his arm in a circle and roared, "Y-r-r-r-r-r ow-w-it." . . . "I could do that all day," he added . . . Klem just grinned. . . . "No you couldn't," he replied. "Suppose the batter was safe."

M'PHAIL BACKS UP BEANBALLERS

Dodger Boss Enters Diamond War of Nerves.

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — President Larry MacPhail of the Brooklyn Dodgers stood behind his pitching staff today in the National league "duster" controversy, stating that his club would return "bean-balls two for one."

* * *

MacPhail called a meeting of the press and players after yesterday's game. In addition to the bean-ball announcement, Larry gave his players a thorough going over.

* * *

Despite Brooklyn's eight-game lead, the club is not playing as well as it should, MacPhail said. Only six players—Hugh Casey, Peewee Reese, Mickey Owen, Joe Medwick, Curt Davis and Pete Reiser—are playing real heads-up ball, he added.

MacPhail said that although Brooklyn had been accused of throwing "bean balls," the Dodgers had been hit by more disasters than any other squad.

ARMY STAR ELEVEN GETS REINFORCEMENTS

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — (U.P.) — The addition of six more former gridiron luminaries brought the Army all-star football squad to 70 men today.

Latest additions to the squad included Pfc. Charles Seabright, blocking back and captain at West Virginia, member of the 1941 Eastern all-stars and first string blocking back for the Cleveland Rams; and Second Lieut. Chester Chesney, center at DePaul university

BEARS AVERAGE 205 FOR ALL-STAR GAME

DELAFIELD, Wis—(INS)—The College All-Stars will go up against a lot of beef when they meet the Chicago Bears professional football team in the annual game at Soldier field later this month.

A tabulation today showed that the aggregate weight of the 37 Bears who are training here is 7,627 pounds, or an average of slightly over 205 pounds. George Musso weighed in at 259 pounds and Joe Stydahar at 254. From these figures, they range downward to 166.

Sammy Lee Takes Title

Beats Ohio Staters In A. A. U. Diving Meet.

COLUMBUS —(AP)—Sammy Lee, Occidental college's diminutive Korean star, held the national A. A. U. 10-meter platform diving championship today after nosing out three Ohio State university opponents in the final event of the annual outdoor carnival.

The platform event, transferred here from New London, Conn., where the other competitions were held last week, went to Lee last night with a score of 108.50 and gave him a clean sweep of the outdoor diving titles. He won the three-meter board event last week.

Miller Anderson, Ohio State sophomore and national indoor three-meter board king, was second to Lee with 103.23; Jimmy Simpson, Buckeye freshman from Montgomery, Ala., was third with 100.10, while Dal Stauffer, former Chicago student now taking post-graduate work at Ohio State, was fourth and last with 99.13.

Ohio State, gaining three points through Anderson's performance, hiked its winning total to 54 points, Yale taking second with 37 in the annual championships. Ohio State, also a winner in 1938, is the only university ever to annex the national A. A. U. outdoor laurels.

Old Ben White Drives Winner

Takes Hambletonian With The Ambassador.

By ORLO ROBERTSON

GOSHEN, N. Y.—(AP)—The boys around the barns were saying that Ben White was too old to compete against 40 and 50-year-old "youngsters"; that Bill Strang's luck was all bad when it came to winning the Hambletonian.

But Trainer-Driver White and Owner Strang, partners for some 15 years, showed them yesterday when The Ambassador won the rich trotting horse stake at Good Time park—the third time White has turned the trick and No. 1 for Strang.

* * *

"Maybe I'm too old," said the 69-year-old White, after The Ambassador had won the purse of $20,489.91, "but I had a right smart horse in front of me and that can make up for a lot of years."

The bay son of Scotland-Margaret Arion came winging home with a length to spare in the third heat in 2:04 after taking the second in 2:06. He finished fifth in the first heat.

The victory brought revenge for Strang and White. A year ago it was Robert H. Johnston's Bill Gallon of Charlotte, N. C., that kept them out of first money. Yesterday Johnson's Pay Up won the first heat in 2:06, but finished third in the second and in a deadheat for fourth in the third.

The first-heat victory gave Pay Up second money. Third went to Thomas Thomas' Scotland's Comet of Cleveland, with two seconds and a tenth; fourth to Lieut. Ebby Gerry's Seven Up, who surprised by taking second and third in the last two brushes after winding up last in the first; fifth to George L. Hempt's Follow Me of Camp Hill, Pa., and sixth to Mabel Hanover, owned by D. J. McConville of Ogdensburg, N. Y., and C. F. Gaines of Sherburne, N. Y.

The disappointment was the heavily-played Colby Hanover, juvenile champion, who never was a factor.

AT FIRST, HE TOLD NO ONE BUT F.B.I. MEN ABOUT THE COINCIDENCE OF BRONNER BEING IN THE SHOPS, BUT WHEN BRONNER DENIED HIS WORD, IT AROUSED HIS IRISH FIGHTING SPIRIT
SURE, AND I SAW HIM WITH ME OWN EYES, DIDN'T I? AN' THAT'S ALL THERE IS TO IT!
I AIN'T ACCUSIN' HIM OF ANYTHING--AND IF THEY WANT TO FIRE ME FOR TELLING THE TRUTH, OKAY!

DEAD-END KIDS COLLECT SCRAP

LONDON — (U.P.) — London's "back-alley kids" are setting their shrewd cockney minds to the war effort.

Tin cans that were once kicked around by these kids are now being collected scrupulously as salvage, and, what is more, the salvaging is being run not haphazardly, but on organized lines.

In a Marylebone district for instance, the kids have collected 40 tons of salvage in three weeks, an average of two tons a day.

In another district, the "back-alley kids have organized a salvage club, their headquarters being a shop. Six girl secretaries were appointed—all between the ages of 11 and 13 years.

Railroads Show Increased Net Income For Past Five-Month Period.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Slightly higher prices were registered for selected leaders in today's early stock market proceedings but many issues failed to attract support.

On the side of railway securities were the figures of the interstate commerce commission indicating that 136 Class 1 steam roads which have been reported had aggregate net income in the five months during May 31, after taxes and charges, of $211,538,528 against $119,844,311 in the like 1941 period.

Notice was taken of the Dun & Bradstreet compilation disclosing that bank clearings in 23 cities, for the week concluded Wednesday, while 3.4 per cent under the previous week, topped the comparable days a year ago by 15.5 per cent. Portland, Ore, led with a gain of 34.8 per cent.

DEMS STIRRED BY BIG G. O. P. PRIMARY VOTE

Bricker Receives 30,000 More Votes Than Combined Total of 5 Dem Candidates.

was defeated Tuesday by Charles M. Beer of Ashland.

It's customary for the nominee for governor to choose the chairman and McSweeney is expected to favor Darrell S. Jones, Newark real estate broker who helped manage McSweeney's primary campaign.

John C. O'Donnell, Richland county Democratic executive chairman, said today that he believed Jones was in line for the job and he knew of no one else who had been mentioned

Republican State Chairman Ed. D. Schorr of Cincinnati was reelected a member of the state central committee without opposition and he is expected to retain his position as chairman of the G. O. P state central and executive committees

Republicans seized upon party vote totals as indicative that voters generally are more interested in Republican success in November.

The large Bricker vote, they insist, signifies his popularity.

Democratic leaders have offered no plausible explanation of the lag in the party vote in view of the important contests, particularly that for governor

Clearly, Republican voters think little of the isolationist issue raised against incumbent congressmen. By renominating each opposed incumbent by large pluralities, Republicans showed that they either approved their pre-Pearl Harbor views or consider them of no consequence now.

On the other hand, Democrats seemed to take the isolationist issue seriously and defeated Martin L Sweeney in the 20th (Cleveland) district. Sweeney's opponent said he was an outstanding pre-war isolationist.

A second Democratic incumbent congressman, Robert Crosser of the 21st (Cleveland) district, withstood milder isolationist charges

Democratic congressional candidates are expected to press isolationist charges against Republican opponents in the November campaign.

Since the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, however the Republicans who previously were isolationists generally have shown an attitude of co-operation in this country's war effort.

McSweeney, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, charged during the primary campaign that the treasury surplus built by Bricker has resulted in increased and "double" taxation for residents of urban areas. He contended that the surplus, had it been distributed to local governments, would have prevented increased local taxes.

A strain of national issue also is expected to arise over the method of handling civilian defense and co-operation with the federal government in the war effort.
